

Presidential Action May Hold Off Coal Strike For Winter

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—President Truman may move today to prevent a coal strike Dec. 1. He has no legal power to forbid a strike altogether. At least, he can only delay it.

But, using what power he has, he might be able to delay the strike 80 days or even 140 days. That would carry the country through the four worst winter months with a supply of coal.

On Nov. 9, when John L. Lewis called his miners back to the pits after a 52-day lay-off, he said it would be until Dec. 1. After that date he may pull them out again unless:

1. He's reached a settlement with the mine owners. None is in sight. The two sides have been haggling on and off since last May and seem no nearer an agreement now than then.

2. The President acts to prevent a Dec. 1 strike. There seem to be only two ways in which he can do that: (A) By setting up a fact-finding board or (B) By using the Taft-Hartley act, which Mr. Truman dislikes.

In trying to set up the fact-finding board, Mr. Truman probably would do this:

Ask Lewis and the mine owners (A) To let a fact-finding board, appointed by the President, look into their dispute and (B) Agree there'd be no strike or lockout for 60 days while the board worked.

The President has no power to force either side to accept this arrangement. Acceptance would be voluntary. If Lewis or the owners, or both, refused, that would be the end of that idea.

But—then, to prevent a strike Dec. 1, Mr. Truman could trot out the Taft-Hartley act and declare a national emergency. Then, under that law, and whether Lewis and owners liked it or not, Mr. Truman would have to set up a fact-finding board.

The board almost certainly would report back to Mr. Truman before the Dec. 1 deadline. Then Mr. Truman would take the next step provided for under the T-H law.

He'd ask for an injunction, or court order, forbidding a strike for 80 days. The purpose of the 80-day delay under the law is to

Capital Fetes Shah Of Iran

Young Ruler Bids For U. S. Goodwill

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—A frank bid for increased American aid launched the youthful Shah of Iran on his month-long goodwill tour of the United States today.

The dark-haired young monarch addressed himself directly to President Truman last night at a state dinner which followed by a few hours his arrival from Tehran in Mr. Truman's plane, the Independence.

Iran, he said, needs American friendship, and hopes for "even closer cooperation and intensified help in the future."

The Shah—his imperial majesty Mohammed Reza Sha Pahlevi—made his remarks in response to words of greeting offered by the President.

His oil-rich nation, an uneasy neighbor of Soviet Russia, already is receiving some American assistance. Iran is one of 14 countries sharing in the new U. S. $1,314,010,000 arms-aid program, and its 115,000-man army has American advisers.

President Truman, in a dinner toast to the Shah, said that the U. S. and Iran honor their pledges, but that America has been dealing with "a great power that does not believe in keeping its contracts." He was obviously referring to Russia.

The arrival of the Shah signaled the start of a ceremonious official welcome.

After a warm greeting at the airport from Mr. Truman and members of the cabinet, he rode through crowd-lined streets to downtown Washington, where he was presented with a symbolic key to the capital city.

Today a visit to the naval academy at Annapolis was on his crowded program, followed by a dinner tonight arranged in his honor by Secretary of State Acheson.

After four days in the capital area he leaves for New York on Sunday for the start of a tour which will take him to the Pacific coast.

Communists Take Capital Of Hupeh

Chungking, Nov. 17 (AP)—Chinese Communists captured Lichuan, provisional capital of Hupeh province, today as Chiang Kai-shek conferred with Nationalist leaders on means to halt them.

Chungking was given but a few more weeks at most to act as capital of the Nationalist government if the Reds continued to press toward it from two directions.

Loss of Lichuan, 155 miles east northeast of Chungking, was admitted by the Nationalist defense ministry.

Fighting along the highways leading to Chungking from Hupeh was reported near Chiehchiang, 130 miles east of this uneasy capital.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Abducted In Idaho

Burley, Idaho, Nov. 17 (AP)—Officers expressed fear today that a seven-year-old girl, missing since late yesterday, may have been kidnapped.

Glenda Joyce Brisbough, daughter of a transport company driver, reportedly entered an automobile driven by a man at 5:30 p. m., yesterday.

Road blocks have been set up throughout southern Idaho.

Lieutenant Governor Hurt; Car Hits Tree

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—Lt. Gov. John W. Connolly was injured in an automobile crash early today. His law officer reported that he suffered only bruises and scratches. He was taken to Saratoga General Hospital.

Air Jam Eased At Washington

Combat Type Planes Banned For Safety

By JAMES J. STREIBIG

Associated Press Aviation Writer Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—Orders banning combat-type planes at Washington National Airport—scene of a disastrous air collision this month—may be followed by steps toward closing of two famous military airfields located nearby.

The move to virtually clear the immediate Washington area of military air traffic was reported under discussion by officials of the armed forces and civil aviation agencies.

A series of reports on near-crashes between military and commercial aircraft in the Washington area has built up strong pressure for such action.

The first step in that direction was taken yesterday, when the civil aeronautics administration ordered all combat-type aircraft—whether military or civilian owned—to stay away from the crowded commercial field. National is the only civil field in the area available to large planes.

The move may be followed by another step, suggested by several members of Congress, under which Anacostia Naval Air Station and Bolling Air Force Base in southeast Washington would be converted to building sites and parking lots.

Once among the most famous military air fields in the nation, Anacostia and Bolling field lie end-to-end along the eastern shore of the Potomac River directly across from National airport.

Hooper Slaying Story Leaks Out; Police Skeptical

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—A new story from Southern Michigan prison convicts on the unsolved Sen. Hooper slaying came to light today amid some official doubts.

As with others of a series, this one also was said to contain discrepancies which made its credence uncertain.

The new account leaked out unofficially, but it was subsequently confirmed in Detroit city and state police quarters.

Like the others, too, it had elements of fantasy, police said. It was based on a plot and a

Jewelry Thief May Be Freed

Expert Pays With 19 Years Behind Bars

By ARTHUR EVERETT

Minneapolis, N. Y., Nov. 17 (AP)—Master jewel thief Arthur Barry, his youth, his money and his arrogance gone, has a friend at last on the right side of the law.

As a result, he may never return to prison.

"Barry is a changed man," Nassan county District Attorney Frank Gulotta said yesterday, indicating that Barry has paid his debt to society during 19 years behind bars.

"I feel that if a man hasn't learned his lesson by now, he never will," Gulotta told Judge Henry J. A. Collins. "I believe the humane thing to do would be to give him an opportunity."

"It will be our recommendation that sentence be suspended or, if imposed, that execution be suspended," Judge Collins held Barry for sentencing Nov. 22.

Barry, jewel-thieving scourge of Long Island's wealthy in the 1920's, pleaded guilty to six 20-year-old indictments. They grew out of some of the thefts that reportedly netted him from $4,000 to $100,000. The bulk of the loot never was recovered, but Barry says it is gone.

Gulotta quoted the 59-year-old thief as telling him:

"In those days, it was easy come, easy go. There isn't anything left. If there was—even a cufflink—I'd tell you about it."

Barry was released Tuesday from Attica State Prison after serving 19 years for a $60,000 jewel robbery. He immediately was arrested on the old charges which were held in abeyance during his years in prison.

Pontiac Bombing Suspect Set Free

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP)—Paul Frechette, who claimed the AFL Teamster union put him out of business, was free today after answering questions in the dynamiing of two union officials' homes.

However Frechette, who has offered to take a lie detector test, probably will be questioned more in the near future.

He was called into the Oakland county prosecutor's office to make a statement after the homes of two teamsters Local 614 officers—secretary-treasurer Louis Lintea and business agent Dan Keating—were damaged by dynamite blasts Monday night.

No one was injured.

Stray Bullets Kill 9 Hunters And Wound 20

By the Associated Press

Gun accidents have claimed nine lives in Michigan's three-day-old deer hunting season.

The latest victims were a 76-year-old hunter who was accidentally shot by his daughter and a 28-year-old Muskegon man who died in a Petoskey hospital.

State Police said William Henry Blaine, 76, of Temple, was killed when struck by a bullet fired by his daughter, Mrs. Bernard Smith, standing 300 yards away. They were hunting on Blaine's farm near Temple, in Clare county.

Only Two To Go

Kenneth Easterling, 28, of Muskegon, died in Little Traverse hospital in Petoskey. He was shot in the chest yesterday by a stray bullet from the gun of his hunting companion, Albert Somers, 50, of Muskegon. They were hunting near Alba, west of Gaylord.

Earlier today, Arthur Hill of Covington died in Baraga county after being shot accidentally by a companion, Oscar Neimela, also of Covington.

The deaths left the toll of the young 1949 season only two below last season's mark.

In 1948's season, 11 hunters were fatally wounded and 57 were injured. Already the current number of injured is close to a score, state police estimated.

Conditions Excellent

Hunters in the north woods as the third deer shooting day began had excellent conditions — cold weather and good snow for tracking. Snow piled 10 inches high in sections of Upper Michigan as well as in the Gaylord area of the Lower Peninsula.

Farther south, the snow was lacking, but hunting weather still was considered fine.

These were the victims of bullets that went wide in the season's opening days.

William John Schlueter, 48, of Clio, killed in Clare county by an unknown hunter's shot.

Jahs Crawford, 81, of Buelah, shot by Clare Phillips, 30, in the snow-filled Huron Mountains of Baraga county.

Chinese Tangle Proves Puzzle

Both Sides Mixed In Disputes With U. S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 17 (AP)—The United States found itself at odds today with both sides in the conflict in China. Secretary of State Acheson was trying to figure out what to do about the situation.

On the one hand he had the problem of taking new and if possible more forceful steps to get Council General Angus Ward released from a communist jail at Mukden.

On the other hand he was confronted with a need for decision on what position this government should take regarding the shelling of the American merchant ship, the flying cloud, by a Chinese Nationalist warship. The warship was seeking to enforce a blockade of Communist held ports which the United States does not recognize as a legal blockade.

Acheson told a news conference yesterday that the effect of the imprisonment of Ward and four other consulate staff members at Mukden had already been to end any possibility of even considering American recognition of the Chinese Communist regime.

He added that the state department is doing everything it can and considering all possible steps to obtain Ward's release. What steps may be actually under study he did not say. Diplomats were trying to puzzle out whether there really was any effective action this government could take beyond trying to persuade the Communist authorities to change their tough attitude toward the whole case.

Highways Slippery

Lansing, Nov. 17 (AP)—The state highway department reported today that a light fall of wet snow had resulted in slippery sections of roads in Dickinson, Gogebic and Ontonagon counties in the Upper Peninsula and in Emmett and Otsego counties in the lower peninsula.

Kidnaper Of Detroit Girl, 7, Blames Binge For His Mean Streak

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—A remorseful father who gets "mean and wicked" when drinking was held for prosecution today in Karen Kuechenmeister's abduction.

That description of William B. Mabrey, 35, was self-applied in formal confession, according to Chief Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Garber.

Mabrey, former Illinois coal miner and ex-army cook, faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted.

He will be charged with kidnapping and assault with intent to rape, Garber said.

Tuesday night Karen was snatched from her home. After a high speed chase of her abductor's car police rescued the seven-year-old blonde tot unharmed.

Mabrey, arrested shortly afterwards, broke down and admitted guilt yesterday following hours of police questioning, Garber said.

In the police-announced confession Mabrey told of having been on a beer binge all Tuesday and said:

"When I start drinking, I'm mean and wicked. I have no heart or conscience. But I hadn't intended to harm the little girl."

He protested he had "never done anything like this before."

Mabrey, manager of a pool room and small hotel here, is married and father of a baby daughter.

His wife, Florence, 24, was distraught. She said Mabrey had been a dutiful husband and that she could not believe his story.

Mabrey came here from Eldorado, Ill., where he said he worked in the mines for five years prior to army service. He served a prison sentence for burglary in Illinois. Otherwise he has no police record.

New Belgian Regime Threatened By Split Over Return Of King

Brussels, Belgium, Nov. 17 (AP)—Belgium's coalition government was threatened with a serious split today over the proposal to put the return of King Leopold to a national referendum.

The Liberal party, which heretofore has joined the majority Conservative Social Christian party in the coalition government, threw its support to the opposition Socialists yesterday.

Liberal members of parliament announced they were behind the Socialists who are demanding that the legality of the government bill proposing the referendum be tested by the Council of State, the Belgian equivalent of a supreme court.

Such a move would delay considerably putting Leopold's return to national vote by the people. The senate already has approved the bill and it was to have gone to the chamber of deputies at the end of this month.

Illegal Deer Carried In Locomotive, But It Won't Be Confiscated

Jersey Shore, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Pennsylvania game commission has decided it won't confiscate a locomotive allegedly used to transport a deer killed out of season.

The fate of the locomotive was determined yesterday after three railroaders—M. J. Snyder, Carl Vanemone and E. N. Harter—were fined $150 each on charges of possessing an illegally killed deer and transporting it on a New York Central railroad locomotive.

Pennsylvania law authorizes the commission to confiscate any vehicle used in connection with a violation of the state's game code. After due deliberation, the commission announced it would not press that section of the code.

The deer season opens in Pennsylvania Nov. 28.

Planes Plunge To Disaster In California Fog

Hunt Continues For Craft Off Bermuda

(By The Associated Press)

Two B-29 superfortresses collided and crashed in California last night, while over the Atlantic, rescue searches hunted another B-29 which went down near Bermuda.

There was no indication today what the toll of lives might be. Forty-two men were aboard the three planes.

Wreckage of the two giant planes that crashed in California were spotted today seven miles apart near Stockton.

Bodies were strewn around one of the planes. Details of the crash were lacking, but one report said the two planes rammed together at 26,000 feet, while a dense fog shrouded the area.

Weak SOS Heard

Four survivors—from among 22 crewmen—were reported accounted for.

The planes were part of a flight of B-29's out of the Spokane, Wash., base.

Over the Atlantic, the biggest peacetime air rescue search in history was underway. Army, Navy and Coast Guard planes combed the waters around Bermuda for a stricken super-bomber whose navigation instruments failed on a flight to England.

A radio message from the plane yesterday saying that the plane was going to crashland at sea was followed later by weak SOS signals picked up by the Coast Guard. The plane carried 20 men.

The superfortress was part of a 3-29 group enroute to England from March Air Base, Calif. Hope was held that occupants of the plane may have taken to life rafts.

FALLS IN FLAMES

Stockton, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—Two airforce superforts collided 26,000 feet above Stockton at midnight. One fell in flames. The tail of the other fell off and it crashed in the mud.

Four of the 22 men aboard were saved.

Seven were found dead in the wreckage.

Eleven are missing. Detailed checking eliminated one survivor reported by Lodi, Calif. police. The four survivors—all at the navy annex of the Stockton supply depot after treatment for minor injuries—are:

Lt. Warren F. Sharrock, whose home is only 23 miles east of Stockton in the Sierra foothills.

Pvt. Keith R. Burns, 19, Boise, Ida., apparently the only survivor of the burning plane.

Confessions Clear Detroit Dope Thefts

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—Police said today they had obtained confessions which solve a series of narcotics thefts and burglaries in Detroit.

Police Lt. Carl Falk said Edgar Keith, 17, and Joseph Messina, 24, admitted 12 holdups. Cash, jewelry and dope taken was estimated to be worth $25,000. Falk said.

"They said they hoped to sell the narcotics," Falk said, "but because of newspaper publicity about the robberies they decided the dope was too hot. Messina said he washed it down the drain at his home."

New Factory For Bourke

Steel Building At Dock Project Site

Construction of footings has been started at the dock project site for the installation of a steel quonset hut type building to house the Delta Furniture company.

The Delta Furniture company owned by H. P. Bourke is scheduled to move by January 1 from its present quarters in the city-owned old Steele Wallace building, Stephenson avenue, to make room for the expansion of the Harnischfeger corporation operations in that location.

Under an agreement worked out by the City of Escanaba and the Escanaba Foundation, the industrial development corporation of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, the Foundation will pay for the construction of new quarters for the Delta Furniture company on city-owned property at the ore project site. Rentals will require the cost of the investment, after which the property will revert to the city.

Buy Plywood Building

In addition to the steel quonset type building, 40 by 80 feet, the Escanaba Foundation has arranged the purchase of the building at the dock project site formerly occupied by the Hawahua Plywood company. This building will be used by the Delta Furniture company to supplement the floor space available in the quonset building.

The city's contract with the Harnischfeger corporation provided for an option to the company to lease additional space at the Steele-Wallace building as required. The company recently notified the city of its desire to expand its operations at that site.

The city's contract with the Delta Furniture company provided a responsibility by the city to establish new quarters for the Delta Furniture company in the event that the company was forced to vacate the Steele-Wallace property.

The Harnischfeger company manufactures electric welders at the Stephenson avenue plant and recently added truck cabs to its manufacturing operations there. It is reported that the company plans to increase the scope of its manufacturing operations at the Stephenson avenue plant to include DC welders.

The Harnischfeger company also operates a large plant manufacturing mobile truck cranes in its own building west of the U. P. State fairgrounds. The company is enlarging its facilities in that location, also.

The Delta Furniture company is manufacturing television cabinets for the Admiral Radio corporation.

It is an important milestone in welfare and security in the industry (that will) not only serve for stability of the auto workers but should point the way in the steel industry.—Walter Reuther, UAW president, on union's agreement with Ford Motor Co.

With The Deer Hunters

Direct Relief Going Higher

They're doing all right at Chippewy Pete's camp in the Escanaba area. Pete and George Koster are pointing with pride to a couple of bucks in the Koster back yard. They filled their licenses the second day. George knocked down a nine-pointer carrying around 190 pounds of steak, rump roast and deerburger and Pete's—well, Pete's was a four-pointer which should be described as "just a nice eating size."

Nyle Stierma, former Escanaba resident, came here clear from Waukegan, Ill., to get his buck at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning—opening morning, you know—while hunting in the Cornell area. It was a four-pointer, but like Pete Koster's buck, it looks like a "good eating buck." That's an important item.

Joseph Chouinard of Escanaba, Route One, got his buck the first day of the season. He bagged a 200-pound, eight-point buck while hunting near Boney Falls, at 4 p. m., yesterday. With him were Emil Derouin, Mrs. Frank Kidd and Daniel LaPalm.

Father Wilfred Pelletier of Sacred Heart church, Schaffer, shot a spike horn buck while hunting near Northland, at 5 p. m., Tuesday. Father Pelletier was hunting from the LaFleur-Mayrand camp near Northland, with Joseph and Thomas LaFleur, Lawrence Mayrand and Homer Seymour.

Ollie Lund of Rapid River yesterday morning bagged a 16-point 190-pound buck while hunting at Stonington. Lund is hunting with his brothers, Harold and Walter of Kipling.

Among the successful hunters on the opening day of the season was Eugene LeClaire of Bay View, who brought down a four-point, 150-pound buck at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday near the LeClaire camp at Pole Lake. Hunting with LeClaire are his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cass of Escanaba.

Successful second-day nimrods were Jesse Goulet and Leo Lancour, both of Escanaba, who got their bucks yesterday hunting near LaBranche. Hunting with them are Joe Gregoire and Bill Sullivan. Being modest men of the great outdoors, the successful hunters have not as yet reported the details—number of points, weight, etc.

Joe I. Perow of Escanaba was not killed or injured in a hunting accident, as widely rumored yesterday. And Santa Claus is not dead. Perow has played Santa each Christmas season at a community party for kids sponsored by an Escanaba store. Joe's friends and the children of Escanaba are pleased to find that the rumor was only a rumor.

Bark River residents have been getting their share of venison too. On the opening day, Donald Larson shot a 185-pound deer; Carl Monkel a 175-pound buck; and Alfred Dahlin one that weighed about 120 pounds. All three hunted in the Cedar River area.

Hunters who have gone to the E. J. Bergman camp near LaBranche are E. J. Bergman sr., John Helms and Roy Bergman of Bark River and Harold Bergman and son Keith of Gladstone.

Direct Relief Going Higher

Now 524 Cases In Delta County

The direct relief load in Delta county continues to grow, with the September total showing 624 cases, according to figures released today by A. M. Gilbert, director of the county social welfare department.

The number of direct relief cases and the cost by months so far this year is as follows:

Month	Cases	Cost
January	476	$17,818
February	496	19,207
March	573	24,729
April	549	23,158
May	559	22,061
June	563	22,072
July	589	23,871
August	617	25,327
September	624	27,723

Direct relief is financed by state and county funds.

The report for September shows that one year ago (Sept., 1948) there were 396 direct relief cases and the cost for the month was $12,624.

Old age assistance cases totaled 660, aid to dependent children 192, and aid to the blind 8 for September, 1949. The cost for all three services totaled $52,441.70 and is financed equally by state and federal funds. This total cost compares with $44,816 for Sept. 1948.

County welfare and hospital costs increased from $1,500 a year ago to $3,412; and administrative costs from $1,606 to $1,933. These costs are financed wholly by county funds.

Total expenditures of the social welfare department for Sept., 1949, were $85,511 compared to $60,547 for September last year.

Hermansville

Shower For Mrs. Corriveau Hermansville, Mich.—In the basement of St. Mary's church, Tuesday evening, a shower was held for Mrs. Alfred Corriveau. The hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Fleetwood and Mrs. Eugene Stockero. About 60 women were present. Cards were played and prizes went to Mrs. Julius Hanson, first; Mrs. Francis LeDuc, low. In bunco prizes went to Mrs. Leno Facio, high; and Mrs. William Harlow, low. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Mrs. Corriveau received many beautiful gifts.

Personals
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Johnson of Escanaba and Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Fish of Iron Mountain visited at the Edward Fish home.
Mr. and Mrs. Geno Mara, son Randall, daughter, Marlene, of Daggett, were recent visitors at the Guerinio Marana home.
Peter Polazzo and Felix Cabianca of Ann Arbor are here for the hunting season.
Peter Dani of Gwinn is visiting at the home of his father, Frank Dani.

George McArthey Is Promoted By Commissioner Toy

Of wide interest here is the announcement made yesterday by Police Commissioner Toy of Detroit of the advancement of Detective Sergeant George D. McArthey to the rank of Detective Lieutenant.

Lt. McArthey is a former resident of Escanaba and is a brother of Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mrs. Emerson B. Harvey and Byron McArthey of this city.

The Detroit newspapers, commenting on the promotion said:

"Fourteen promotions were announced today by Police Commissioner Toy including the elevation of Detective Sergeant George D. McArthey to Detective Lieutenant. McArthey, one of the best known detectives in the downtown area has served for 22 years, principally with hotels and confidence squads."

Gas Conversion Experts To Talk At Council Meet

George Arnold of Chicago, a former Escanaban who now represents the Cutler-Hammer company, and Karl E. Johnson, who represents the J. F. Pritchard company of Kansas City, will discuss gas conversion equipment with city councilmen at the regular council meeting tonight.

The City of Escanaba is investigating the advantages and disadvantages of converting from city-manufactured gas to a gas similar to good bottle gas. It is believed that conversion would mean cheaper and better gas for residents.

The move to convert would probably be submitted to a vote of the people if investigations indicate the move would be favorable. A. V. Aronson, city manager, said today.

Big Ten Fives Open Season December 1

Chicago, Nov. 17 (P)—Big Ten basketball teams will open a 144-game season on Dec. 1 in a schedule dotted with 22 interconference games from the East and West coasts.

Included on the Big Ten 1949-50 schedule are 54 conference games and 90 against non-conference foes. The conference office, which released the schedule today, said the season will close next March 6.

Colorado College at Iowa and Western Michigan at Northwestern will open the campaign on Dec. 1. The conference schedule, calling for 12 games for each team, will open Jan. 2 with Illinois at Wisconsin.

The Big Ten games of Michigan State, new member of the conference, will not count in the standings until the 1950-51 season. However, the Spartans will meet conference foes 10 times this season.

Governor Transmits Annual Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

Lansing (P)—Governor William's Thanksgiving Day proclamation urges the people of Michigan to observe the holiday "in their homes and churches with prayers and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many material and spiritual blessings he has vouchsafed us in the year now drawing to a close."

The proclamation said: "This year, the citizens of the United States and particularly of Michigan have ample cause to observe a day of universal thanksgiving. Our orchards and our fields have yielded with a bounty seldom equaled; our industries have prospered, our enterprises thrived. There has been and there promises to be a livelihood for all. New Polio Cases Drop; U. P. Total Now Stands At 95

The number of new cases of polio in the Upper Peninsula is declining, but the record to date stands at the highest in nearly a decade—a total of 95 polio cases to Nov. 5, according to a report on communicable diseases from the Northern Peninsula office of the state health department in Escanaba.

The report reveals that for the week ending Nov. 4 there was but one new polio case reported in the U. P., and that was in Mackinac county.

Delta county is reported to have had nine polio cases. Two of these, one from the city of Escanaba and one from Gladstone, terminated fatally. The total number of polio deaths in the U. P. was unofficially reported as seven.

Chippewa has had the largest number of cases, 31; Menominee is second with 12; Houghton and Mackinac each had 10; and Delta had 9 so far this year. Three counties, Baraga, Keweenaw and Luce, had none reported.

The 95 polio cases in the U. P. compares to a state total of 2,629 for the state since Jan. 1; and to 692 state total for a similar period last year.

Delta county also had 72 measles and 9 scarlet fever cases to Nov. 5 this year.

British Ballot Issues Defined

Steel Nationalization Is Big Question

London, Nov. 17 (AP)—Winston Churchill says the big issue in Britain's next National elections will be steel nationalization.

The conservative leader, already campaigning for return to the Prime Minister's post he held during the war, said last night the election will be "almost a referendum" on whether the public wants the government to take over the nation's giant steel industry.

Churchill supported a labor government move in the House of Commons to delay putting steel under state ownership until after the elections. The latest elections can be held in July, 1950, when the five-year term of the present labor government expires. Indications were that the election might be called as early as next February.

He promised, however, that if his party should be returned to power one of the first steps would be to wipe out the Nationalization Bill which will be enacted by the labor-dominated parliament in the next few weeks.

The government had moved the delay of the actual take-over which it once held should be on May 1, 1950, as a compromise with the House of Lords to ensure early passage of the bill.

The labor government of Prime Minister Clement Attlee is pushing passage of the bill so that it can show voters it has fulfilled its major nationalization promise, made before the 1945 general election which put it into power.

The compromise calls for the conservative House of Lords to pass the bill before the Christmas adjournment Dec. 16, but sets the date of the take-over back to Jan. 1, 1951.

Police Chief's Job Has Rapid Turnover In Lusty Everts, Ky.

Everts, Ky., Nov. 17 (AP)—Albert Smith, Everts' police chief before the beginning of an exceedingly swift turnover in the office—a turnover hastened by the killing of one chief—was on duty again today.

Smith is police chief No. 7 for Everts since Aug. 2, 1948. At that time he resigned in a huff after a row with city council.

His successor, E. J. Baumgardner, was shot to death before he'd served hardly a month. He said Chief, H. T. Collier, quit after holding the post less than a month. He said he didn't want to get shot.

The next chief was George Sellers, who resigned. He was followed by Isachar Combs. Combs gave up the job after he was arrested on a murder charge. Bobby McLain succeeded Combs. He and policeman Art Bailey were dismissed by the Everts' city council several days ago.

Everts' new mayor, J. D. Houseley, announced Smith's appointment yesterday.

Tiny Milwaukee Baby Dies At Ann Arbor As Operation Fails

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP)—A six-day-old Milwaukee baby born with a throat obstruction died in University hospital today (7 a. m.) less than two days after an emergency operation.

The child, Timothy Alan Roche, was brought here by automobile Tuesday for the surgery. A delicate 3½-hour operation was performed but it failed to save the infant's life.

Doctors said the child's throat ended in a pouch in his chest, thus obstructing the passageway to his stomach. Such cases are unusual, they said, but similar operations have been performed here for 10 years.

The baby was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Roche of Milwaukee. The parents did not accompany the child here for the operation.

Russian Imperialism Proves Distasteful To Old German Reds

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 17 (AP)—Western allied officials say the West German Communist party has lost most of its old-time members, either by expulsion or resignation, because they can't swallow "Russian imperialism."

Private reports reaching the officials from several reliable sources indicate, they said last night, that the party is undergoing a sweeping purge of Titoists and defeatist elements "similar to those going on the Cominform satellites of Russia."

Indications were that most of the old pre-war German Communists were throwing their support to the independent Communist ideas of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito.

U-M Limits Holiday To Thanksgiving Day

Ann Arbor—Thanksgiving Day will be observed as a holiday at the University of Michigan, but classes will be resumed on Friday, Nov. 25.

Three weeks later, on Friday, Dec. 16, classes will be suspended for the Christmas holidays. The campus will remain relatively quiet until the students return on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Escanaba Excluded In W-C Airlines Plan To Serve U. P. December 1

Wisconsin Central Airlines will inaugurate service to five stops in the Upper Michigan Peninsula on Dec. 1, 1949, Francis M. Higgins, president of the company, announced today.

Menominee - Marinette, Iron Mountain, Marquette, Houghton-Hancock and Ironwood will receive two flights daily, beginning Dec. 1, 1949. The airline plans to increase the schedule frequency to four flights daily as soon as justified by the volume of traffic.

The present Wisconsin Central plan excludes Escanaba, one of the six cities in the Upper Peninsula.

Planes Collide; Bomber Down At Sea Off Bermuda

Sgt. Robert S. Kluge, 26, Spokane.

The Sheriff's office field party radioed three bodies had been taken from the plane that burned on the San Joaquin river in the Delta nine miles west of here.

State highway patrolman Bill Alott said four bodies were taken from the plane that crashed six feet deep into the mud on the Rindge tract two miles north and across the San Joaquin.

The wings of this plane were intact, but the tail assembly had collapsed.

A radio from the field party at this plane ordered all spectators cleared from the area because of high octane gasoline fumes.

Hamilton field, 25 miles north of San Francisco, said the plane that burned was from the 325th squadron. The other was from the 326th. Both were part of the 92nd bombardment group at Spokane, Wash., air force base.

SOO MAN ABOARD

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 17 (AP)—The biggest peacetime air rescue search in history was underway today for a lost B-29 bomber which ran out of fuel and crashed-landed in the sea somewhere near Bermuda yesterday. 20 U. S. airmen were aboard.

Corp. Bryce W. Neal, 20, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was among the men aboard, according to March Air Base in California.

In an air base listing of the crew men Neal was described as a ground crew member. His father is Joe W. Neal, jr., of 808 Court St., Sault Ste. Marie.

Nearly 100 air force, navy and Coast Guard planes from bases all along the Atlantic seaboard criss-crossed above Bermuda's surrounding waters hoping for a sight of the stricken bomber or bobbing liferafts.

First search patrols yesterday afternoon were fruitless. The last word from the superfortress, whose navigation instruments failed on a flight to England, was a radio message: going to ditch in five minutes.

After that message yesterday morning a U. S. Coast Guard vessel heard weak SOS signals—spurring hopes that the crewmen had taken to rubber life rafts equipped with automatic wireless distress signals.

The plane, part of a B-29 group enroute to England from March Air Base, California, lost its way when its radio navigation equipment failed and it encountered bad weather. U. S. officials at Kinley Air Base here thought it probably went down 150 miles southwest or northeast of Bermuda.

Snow Cover Melted By Milder Weather

(By The Associated Press)

Rising temperatures made slush out of most of Michigan's snow-cover today.

In the wake of snowfalls ranging up to nine inches yesterday, the U. S. weather bureau predicted above-freezing temperatures for the entire state.

The heaviest fall was reported in the northern part of lower Michigan. Pellston measured nine inches and Petoskey four inches to a foot. At Alanson, near Pellston, icy roads stalled traffic.

Detroit, and the rest of southeastern Michigan, experienced the first sizeable snow of the year. One inch was measured in Detroit this morning, but the rising mercury melted it quickly.

The Upper Peninsula recored its second successive day of heavy snow yesterday. The fall measured eight inches at Marquette.

Samuel Ferris, 68, of Fountain, struck by a stray bullet while hunting in a swamp near his Mason county home north of Ludington.

Robert Don Kirkpatrick, 22-year-old visitor from Elcopas, Ill., who got in the line of a shot fired by Lloyd Taylor, 26, of Battle Creek.

Partner Goes Berserk—Besides the victims of hunting accidents, a man was killed northwest of Houghton Lake by a companion who went berserk.

He was Herman Jewell, 34, of Gaines. Police identified the slayer as Charlet Moticka, 33, who was wounded seriously when he turned his gun on himself. Moticka was taken to Mercy hospital in Gaylord.

Four hunters, including a legless, 71-year-old war veteran, suffered fatal heart attacks in the woods.

Far north in Keweenaw county, two pines were searched for separate marksmen reported lost in the thick growth. Also missing was Detroit Lawrence Gulick, last seen near Houghton Tuesday.

Conservation officers reported that the deer kill was good in the Upper Peninsula where there was good tracking snow but light where the snow was deep. Snow up to 13 inches was reported in some western parts of the peninsula.

Violations were below normal. Sixty-eight deer had been brought back across the Straits of Mackinac compared with 85 last year at this time.

No Ceiling On Air Force Enlistments

Restrictions on the number of men who may enlist in the Air Force have been virtually eliminated, according to an announcement made today by Sgt. Jack Scheer, in charge of the local Army and Air Force Recruiting Office.

"For the past several months, the Air Force has had a ceiling on the number who might enlist. Effective immediately, these ceilings are no longer in effect and any young man who can meet the high standards for enlistment in the Air Force will be enlisted," Sgt. Scheer said.

Presidential Act May Delay Coal Strike 4 Months

give both sides in a labor dispute more time to settle it.

After that 80-day delay, though, Lewis would be free to strike. But these two courses open to Mr. Truman raise some questions:

What's the difference between the fact-finding board which the President could set up without using T-H—if both sides accepted—and the board he'd set up if he used T-H?

The first board would make a recommendation on what it thought was a fair settlement of the dispute.

The T-H board can't make recommendations but its findings are made public. So, in effect, its findings would amount to a recommendation.

Why wouldn't Lewis be willing to accept that non-Taft-Hartley fact-finding board? He might accept.

But Lewis never has wanted a third party like the government to step into his affairs when there was a chance he might not get what he wanted.

Suppose Lewis and the owners accepted this non-T-H board and agreed there'd be no strike or lockout for 60 days.

Say the board was set up next Monday. Those 60 days would keep the miners digging coal into the middle of January, helping get the country through the winter.

But suppose at the end of those 60 days in mid-January Lewis refused to accept the board's recommendations. What then?

He'd be free to strike. But wouldn't that be the worst time for a strike—from the standpoint of the country? No, if by then enough coal had been mined to carry the nation through until spring.

But—if Lewis wanted to strike in mid-January and it would hurt the country, then Mr. Truman could use the T-H act, set up the T-H fact-finding board, get a court order, and delay the strike another 80 days.

That would prevent a strike until April, the beginning of warm weather. But couldn't Lewis defy the court order and let his men strike? He might, but maybe he wouldn't.

He tried that before. He and his union paid $1,420,000 in fines this week for contempt of court in a 1948 walkout. Lewis would think twice before risking that again.

SWEET POTATO PUFFS

3 cups rice cooked or canned sweet potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 cup coarsely crushed corn flakes
4 to 6 sliced fried ham, pressed ham, or Canadian bacon

Blend rice, potatoes with seasoning and melted butter or margarine. If very stiff, add a little milk. Form into 4 to 6 balls. Beat egg with water. Dip balls first into egg, then into coarsely crushed corn flakes. Place ham slices on baking sheet and on each place potato puff. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 10 minutes until slightly browned. Then top each puff with a marshmallow and return to oven for about 3 minutes until marshmallow has melted and browned slightly. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Canadian Oil Coming To The States

CANADA'S first long-distance oil pipeline is to run partly through the United States and many Canadians do not like the idea. The eastern terminus of the pipe, which will start in the rapidly developing Alberta fields, will be at Superior, Wis. It is being built by the Imperial Oil Company, Canadian subsidiary of Standard Oil.

Superior has been chosen as the terminal, for the reason that the terrain between Alberta and Port Arthur and Port William is so rocky that building costs would be prohibitive. However, a route from Superior to Escanaba could be utilized at very low cost.

Canadians expect that a good deal of the Alberta oil will find a market in the United States. Clarence D. Howe, Dominion minister of trade and commerce, says it is fortunate for Canada that the United States is so near and so friendly. He adds that Canada has been an oil beggar during periods of scarcity, but has always got what oil it needed from this country.

"The best market for Alberta oil is that which is nearest, and part of that market eventually may be in the United States," said Mr. Howe. That is one reason why Escanaba could consistently be a terminal and distributing point for Great Lakes distribution, including Sarnia, where it is expected Canadian refineries will be built. A pipe terminal at Escanaba would reduce the time of delivery to down-lake points by two days, and effect a very large annual saving in transportation costs.

Coal Strike Must Not Be Resumed

A RESUMPTION of the soft coal strike on December 1 at the expiration of the present "truce" now seems to be an unlikely development. The federal mediation service has served notice upon John L. Lewis to negotiate a new contract before the end of the month. The implication is that unless some agreement is reached during the truce, President Truman will invoke provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor act which will, in effect, prevent a resumption of the strike on December 1.

If any progress has been made towards settlement of the issues involved in the coal dispute, the public is unaware of it. Lewis is reported to have made some extravagant demands for wage increases and higher royalty payments to the miners' health and welfare fund. The operators are definitely hostile to any increases that would cause higher prices of coal and tend to reduce the market for solid fuel. The coal industry has already lost a big segment of its market to competing fuels, such as gas and oil.

Lewis has been extremely successful in recent years in forcing big wage boosts and other benefits for the miners. The time has come, however, when the coal industry must resist new demands from the union, not only for the protection of the operators but the miners themselves. Each time that miners' wages have gone up, the price of coal bounced upward. And higher coal prices brought a sharp trend towards conversion to other fuels. Today more oil burners are being sold in the United States than coal stokers.

The result has been increases in virtually every commodity manufactured by coal power, plus increases in freight rates. The coal labor dispute is not simply a problem involving the coal miners and the operators of the coal mines. It concerns every person in America and, indirectly, every person in the entire world. Two things are quite apparent. We cannot afford a new coal strike this year. Neither can we afford to resolve the dispute by boosting wage and royalty benefits at the cost of higher coal prices.

New Approach Needed In Sex Cases

THE mutilation murder of 6-year old Linda Joyce Glucoft in Los Angeles this week reveals once again the completely inadequate legal provisions for controlling the activities of known sex perverts. The man sought for suspicion of murder in the Glucoft case is a 60-year old fugitive in another child molestation case. This man was arrested last April for molesting a 10-year old girl in a Los Angeles suburb. At that time he signed a confession in which he admitted molesting several children. He was released on $500 bond and promptly fled to Mexico, but returned recently to live with relatives in Los Angeles.

Virtually every community in the United States has had some sad experiences involving these child molesters. The usual procedure is to charge the defendant with disorderly conduct, fine him a paltry few dollars or confine him in jail for a short period of time, after which he is free once again to resume his depravities. In more serious cases, the defendant may be charged with a felony and sentenced to a prison term for a year or more. In either case, ultimately he is released from confinement without being cured of his perverted mental twist to become once again a menace to society.

The problem of controlling known sex perverts requires an entirely different approach than is presently customary. Perverts must be treated as mental cases, rather than as criminals, and confined to mental institutions as long as they possess the mental twists that menace society. If such a policy had been in effect in California Linda Glucoft would be alive today, as would Suzanne Degnan and other young victims of sex perverts.

United Foundation Scores Big Success

THE United Foundation in Detroit, the motor city's big integrated community chest, has gone well over the top in the biggest charity fund raising drive ever organized. The goal was $8,550,000 and contributions and pledges reached $9,200,000. There were 143 social, health and welfare agencies participating in the United Foundation in Detroit, local, state and national. It is the only integrated campaign in the country designed to meet all the needs of all health and welfare agencies. The cost of conducting the campaign was many thousands of dollars less than the cost of the multiple campaigns previously conducted. And it concentrated in one campaign the volunteer efforts of solicitors previously spread over a number of such fund raising drives.

Business, industry, organized labor and government cooperated completely to make the Detroit campaign a tremendous success. The payroll deduction system was generously used in virtually every plant, with the results that individual pledges were considerably greater than ever before. Many of the motor companies set up payroll deduction systems extending through the entire year.

The success achieved in the Detroit campaign should serve as a notable example to Delta county, in which the drive for only $17,000 has bogged down.

A FINE DOCTOR—AND MORE!

(Milwaukee Journal)
Associates of Dr. Katherine Baird said that her sudden death from bulbar polio was "in line of duty." It was that and more. Dr. Baird would never have thought for a moment of the danger to herself in performing her professional duty. She was wholly committed to the highest idealism of medicine. But, beyond all that, Dr. Baird had a boundless love for children and couldn't have denied her professional skill to a child that needed it.

It was this love of children and the happiness that she found in ministering to them that led her far beyond the call of professional duty and won for her affection and recognition in so many quarters. She was widely acclaimed as a successful and competent children's doctor, but to her patients and their families, and even to hapless European children she had "adopted," she was a woman of deep sympathy and generosity.

Dr. Baird, in her too short career, made a great contribution to her patients, her community and her profession. She set a wonderful example for doctors and laymen alike by her unselfish devotion to the welfare of others. Because of this, her death at 38 seems unusually tragic.

But Dr. Baird had assumed the risks and the responsibilities of her calling gladly along with its opportunities for service. She demonstrated that she considered the rewards of such service far outweighed the sacrifices and the dangers. Her life will stand as an inspiration to others who live to carry on for her.

SUGAR ISLAND BASKETS

(Sault Ste. Marie News)
A good many years ago, the colorful baskets made by Sugar Island Indians were frequently sold from door to door in the Sault.

Every few months, craftsmen with wares tied up in a big square of cloth went from house to house, offering to exchange baskets for clothing, household goods and maybe some money thrown in. Usually there was a big clothes hamper in which the smaller baskets were stacked.

It was a fascinating array—dozens of gay patterns and an endless variety of shapes and sizes—baskets for a hundred uses. And there was always a faint fragrance of sweet grass.

Although the door-to-door basket sellers aren't encountered very often any more, basketweaving is still an important craft on Sugar Island. Five hundred of the baskets were recently ordered by William Olson, a former Sault resident, for his store in Santa Rosa, California. They are highly popular as bon voyage gifts and hence may find their way to all parts of the globe. Eventually, Sugar Island baskets may well have a world-wide reputation.

Mexican baskets, woven goods and potteries, South American silver articles and dozens of products typical of the crafts of as many countries are sought by buyers everywhere. Why not a vast market for Sugar Island baskets?

News items indicate too many people are marrying for target practice instead of for love.

St. Paul: How did electricity get its peculiar name? From the word "elect"?—Mrs. A. P.

A. Sorry, there is no connection. The word comes from the Latin electron, meaning, "amber," a yellow, fossilized resin.

The ancients were familiar with the fact that amber, when activated by friction, has the power of attracting such subject as feathers, and bits of straw or paper.

Senatorial Race In California

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—The flashiest primary contest of 1950 looks like it is going to be in California where a former actress will try to take the Democratic Senate nomination away from a former ham-and-egger.

Lined up in a fight which promises to split California's strong labor forces in two will be Helen Gahagan Douglas, now congresswoman from a Los Angeles district, and Sheridan Downey, veteran of 12 years in the U. S. Senate. Both claim to be liberals.

Mrs. Douglas, wife of the screen actor Melvyn Douglas, has become known as the "darling of the Democrats" during her six years in the House of Representatives. Nearly 50, a fact which depresses her, she is still an extremely handsome woman. And her looks are still her own. A little lipstick is the only make-up she ever uses. The fact that she frequently appears on the lists of ten-best-dressed-women amuses her close friends. Actually, she rarely buys her own clothes. A secretary goes to a shop and makes the selection when she decides she wants a new dress. And hard as it is to believe, she doesn't own a single hat.

Largely to offset Clare Boothe Luce, who was the glamor girl on the Republican side in the 79th Congress, the Democrats saw to it that Representative Douglas was immediately assigned to one of the most important committees of the House, Foreign Affairs. She has worked hard at this assignment, averaging well over 12 hours a day sometimes, and has become one of the most influential members of that group.

TALENTED SPEAKER

Thanks to her stage background, Mrs. Douglas is a very effective speaker. She blends impassioned words with cold logic in a very effective manner. Many of her male colleagues who have fair reputations for tossing out dramatic words envy Mrs. Douglas' more professional technique. Twice the Democrats have used her as featured speaker at their convention.

She has been accused of being too far left in her thinking. She likes to think of herself as a fighting liberal. The left-wingers themselves helped erase the suggested red taint when the Progressive Party ran a candidate against her in the race for her congressional seat. Henry Wallace's party later offered her its support as the price of changing her backing of the Marshall Plan. She turned the offer down cold and was one of the leaders for the adoption of the plan.

Senator Downey who entered the Senate with a record of active support of various California pension plans, including the so-called ham-and-egg movement and the Townsend plan, also plans to run on the basis of his liberal record. He has a 100 per cent record for favoring labor.

His involvement in the complicated problem of the 160-acre limitation on the size of farms irrigated by the federal government appears to have hurt him among some factions. Some of his enemies claim that in this fight he has allied himself with both corporate farmers and the power trust, which he naturally denies. Nevertheless he is assured of very strong support in his fight for re-nomination.

LABOR MIGHT SPLIT

The AFL traditionally supports members of Congress for re-election who have voted "correctly" on labor issues. With a choice of two candidates who meet this requirement it's likely the labor group will back the incumbent, Downey.

On the other hand, the CIO takes a broader view of the "liberal" records of candidates and takes into consideration more factors than mere down-the-line approval of labor measures. For this reason observers out there believe Mrs. Douglas will have CIO backing.

And for what it is worth Mrs. Douglas will probably get more out-of-state, national support from various organizations. Senator Downey has knowingly avoided spending much of his time on national issues, and has spent most of it on issues directly related to California interests. Senator Downey is expected to get support of the pensioners, of which California has a huge number, and Mrs. Douglas hopes to get most of the farmers.

In any event, the contest for the Democratic nomination is expected to result in such fireworks that the Republican candidate, who must face one of the primary winners in the general election, may have a hard time getting his name in the paper.

This curious phenomenon was studied by William Gilbert (1544-1603), who was personal physician to Queen Elizabeth. He found that other substances possessed the same power to attract; and to such attractions to gave the Latin name vis electrica, "the force of amber."

However, the word "electricity" was not coined until about 1650. It appeared first in a book, "Ternary of Paradoxes," by Walter Charleton, who spoke of substances having the power to attract by electricity, or charged with electricity.

Los Angeles: Colby, you're wrong in the spelling "jalopy." The word is a disyllable, accented on the second syllable, so its correct spelling is "jalopy," the second syllable rhyming with "copy."—O. J. M.

A. Sorry, but the spelling "jalopy" was not invented by me. It is the only spelling shown by Webster's (New Words section), the American College Dictionary, Funk and Wagnalls New College Standard, Webster's New Collegiate (1949), Kenyon and Knott's pronouncing Dictionary, etc

ONE STORY—The little old red school house—and the big old-fashioned city high school—are rapidly passing out of the picture.

Replacing them in communities all over the country are one-story structures devoid of useless ornamentation, and designed for use rather than impressiveness.

The Escanaba board of education, hearing architects in preparation for the final selection of one to plan the proposed new Escanaba Senior high building, have been told that one-story schools are more economical, more convenient, and more flexible, permitting future growth.

The factor of lower cost in the one-story school is particularly appealing in these times of higher construction costs. No decisions have been made by the board of education, but you may be sure the rambling one-story type of architecture will be thoroughly considered.

AND TWO—Today's "average school" (built before the war) is "an extravagant monument to a dead past," says the Architectural Forum in a recent issue.

The article describes and pictures some of the schools of the "monumental" type.

"By pretending to be something that it isn't (whether a gabled-roofed residence, county court house or limestone mausoleum), it isn't what it is supposed to be—an economical and efficient school house," reports Architectural Forum.

Perhaps the answer is in the public's demand for a school house that is "imposing" in appearance. Unless there are belfries, columns and cupolas, the taxpayers may feel they are not getting their money worth.

BUILT FOR USE—Actually, of course, the taxpayer gets less for his money when the architect, with the sanction of the school board, foists a false-front facade school house onto a community.

Balconies on which no one ever stands, two-story columns that decorate doorways, belfry towers that do not even have a bell in them, and false dormers useful only as a perch for birds, cost money and add nothing to a school house building, say the designers of contemporary buildings.

In turn, they advocate school buildings designed primarily to provide adequate daylight, noise isolation, easy traffic circulation, and minimum square footage for the intended use.

THE ADVANTAGES — The trend is toward school buildings that are friendly, informal, and less monumental than the buildings of the past 30 years, according to Wilfred P. Clapp, Michigan department of public instruction, writing in Architectural Forum.

"The one-story school is finding wide acceptance. And for good reasons: 1—It is safe. All rooms are at grade and children can be evacuated quickly from each room directly out of doors. Horizontal traffic is safer than vertical traffic. Stairways, no matter how well designed, are danger sources, especially when large groups try to move over them rapidly in panic."

Other advantages cited by Clapp include: 2—The one-story school is economical; 3—It is easy to isolate noisy activities; 4—Adequate Gladstone—Robert G. Knutson son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Knutson, has passed examinations in Green Bay and Chicago and has been enlisted in the United States Navy. He is training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Escanaba—Col. Llewellyn Oliver son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Oliver of this city, who is now stationed at Atlanta, Ga., with the general staff corps of the U. S. Cavalry, will retire from active service on Nov. 30, the War Department has announced. Colonel Oliver, brother of the late Clinton Oliver, Escanaba coal dealer, will be 64 soon.

Russia has gone to unbelievable lengths to assure that its citizens shall have the least possible contact with the outside world.

George V. Allen, ambassador designate to Yugoslavia.

daylight is easier to introduce, and class rooms can be larger and provide space for activities.

SCHOOL AREA — Admittedly, the one-story type school requires a larger site area, but this has several compensations—including a more spacious and uncrowded outdoor recreation area.

According to one writer in Architectural Forum, there are savings in cost in the one-story school that permit the purchase of additional area.

"In other words, hard figures demonstrate that a one-story school might be far and away the best investment for big cities—even for the most congested Manhattan districts of a city like New York."

HOW FAR AHEAD? — While every precaution is taken to locate new schools in areas central to the school population, architects are dubious over trying to look too far into the future.

One reason is that population trends shift. When that happens, as it inevitably does, the school that was supposed to be the center is off-center. Then the school, especially the big "monumental" type school of the past, is an expensive mistake.

One-story buildings of less cost, built for use, can easily be expanded if future necessity requires. Or if the school population shifts, the expenditure has not been so great that the building remains as a "monument".

Commercial Fishing

The commercial fishing question has been a very live question for a long time and yet no one has taken the time to get together with the commercial fishermen and talk it over in a fair minded way and see if an agreeable agreement could be reached. The Tourist Council has done just that.

The letters that have appeared in this paper are evidently written by folks who are uninformed or misinformed about the facts of just what the Tourist Council is trying to do. They are NOT trying to close the bay to our Commercial Fishermen. All the accusations are unjust and not true.

Mr. O'Brien, president of the Tourist Council, has been trying to get the facts printed in this paper but for some reason this paper is not interested in printing the facts about a subject that is of great importance to the whole community. If the facts had been printed of what actually has taken place in the Tourist Council it would clarify and tell you just what the tourist council has been so sincerely and fairly working on. These letters, I feel sure, would never have been written.

Ask some of the commercial fishermen who have met with the council if the Tourist Council is trying to be unfair to the commercial fishermen.

When letters such as have appeared in this paper have been allowed to be printed, wonder why an honest report that would show the fair minded person the honesty and sincerity that has been used in these discussions of the commercial fishing question is not allowed a space.

The Tourist Council is composed of folks in all lines of business—gift shops, sports shops, gas stations, newspaper, commercial artists, railroad men, resort operators, real estate operators, etc. Any one is welcome who is interested in tourist problems. Each person who comes to the Tourist Council are busy people with their own business. No one has the time to write up each meeting for a newspaper article.

I am not attempting to answer the commercial fishing question, merely trying to set some people straight in their thinking on what the utmost regard for the commercial fishermen and his occupation and that is why they are trying so hard to get the question settled.

This paper could do a lot to curb ill feeling due to lack of information if they would have a reporter at every Tourist Council meeting who would publish the business that is transacted at these meetings that concerns the community.

Why not all try to work together? Greater things are always accomplished with a unity of spirit.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Walter A. O'Brien.

(Editor's Note: The Daily Press was represented by a staff member at the Tourist Council's meeting in which the fishing controversy was discussed and carried an adequate article on the council's action. The charge that the Daily Press has denied the council the opportunity to present its side of the controversy is entirely erroneous. Mr. O'Brien has not discussed the subject with the Daily Press. Every letter submitted to the Forum editor on the fishing controversy, pro and con, has been published. The issue, in fact, has monopolized the Forum column for more than a week and further letters on the subject will not be published.)

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Los Angeles.—It looks like Jimmy Roosevelt is definitely coming into his own.

Once a callow youth, floundering under the weight of a famous name, Jimmy dealt with almost anybody who came along. At one time he was the political pal of Mayor James Curley of Boston. Another time his life insurance sales to George Washington Hill of the American Tobacco Company didn't help the Roosevelt family.

However, Jimmie is 42 now, and the years have done something to him. He has excellent political judgment. He is careful about friends. And most important of all, he is now able to chart a straight political course. Jimmy knows what he wants and goes after it.

One of the most interesting developments about Jimmy Roosevelt is the group of youngsters around him. It is reminiscent of the young Democrats of his father's day, the young people who would fight and die politically to defend the name of Roosevelt. Those young Democrats of 1933 have now put on age, in some cases mould and crust. But a new generation has come along in California and their adoration of Jimmy Roosevelt is probably greater than that once given his father.

Jimmie is amazingly popular in California. When he goes into a restaurant, a political meeting or any place where people gather the music stops, or else begins, or a whisper sweeps over the room. You can write it down that he can win the Democratic nomination for governor in a walk, whether Truman supports him or not.

ADM. SHERMAN SHOWS SPUNK

On the west coast where the admirals first hatched their revolt things are a lot different now that Adm. Forrest Sherman has taken over the navy helm. He's steering a steady course and rebellious admirals are climbing back aboard.

Sherman's policy is friendly but firm. He demonstrated that he could use an iron hand not only by abolishing operation 23, the navy propaganda unit, but by cracking down on another navy propaganda nest at Pensacola, Fla. There, the navy was even mimeographing form letters of complaint to congressmen, then handing them out to the congressmen's constituents to sign.

But Admiral Sherman sent his deputy, Adm. John Price, to Pensacola, and stopped the smear campaign. Adm. John Reeves, in charge of the operation, is being replaced and will retire in April.

Simultaneously, Sherman showed he wasn't a yes-man by letting Capt. John Crommelin off with a sharp rebuke. This was a decision which Rear Adm. George Russell, the navy judge advocate, urged Sherman to duck, and dump in the lap of Secretary of the Navy Matthews.

But Sherman replied: "Crommelin is under my command, and I'll take the responsibility."

Though Sherman had been smeared by his fellow admirals as a "quising," he didn't barge into his new office swinging the ax. He started by "going to school," and calling in each bureau chief to bring him up to date on naval affairs. Result: peace and order is beginning to come back to the armed forces.

NOTE: Admiral Sherman decided upon a naval career at the age of six when he first set foot on a battleship, the U. S. S. Kentucky. As early as 12 he showed his seamanship and spunk while sailing off the New England coast in a whaleboat with his grandfather. Several miles off shore, his grandfather died at the helm, and young Sherman brought the boat home safely through choppy water.

GOVERNORS ROW OVER SUBSIDIES

Two neighboring governors—J. Bracken Lee of Utah and John W. Bonner of Montana—got into a row over mine subsidies the other day at a closed meeting of 13 western governors at Salt Lake City.

The row started after the governors heard a mining industry spokesman, Carl Trauerman, plead for higher tariffs, a free gold market and—of all things—federal subsidies. This is the first time the mining industry, considered a bulwark of free enterprise, has joined the chorus crying for a government handout.

Montana's Bonner agreed that federal subsidies were necessary to keep the small mines operating, argued that it was sound defense policy to have strategic metals pouring into our stockpile.

But Utah's Lee snorted that the "less we have to do with the federal government the better," and urged the governors not to undertake anything they couldn't do on their own.

Lee's little speech didn't go over with the mining industry, however, which happens to be the principal industry in Utah and which does not agree with the GOP cry of "Welfare State"—at least when it comes to mining.

NOTE: Lee also opposed federal aid to education, which has been sponsored in congress by Utah's Sen. Elbert Thomas. In fact, Lee was against everything that emanated from Washington—even tangled with California's Gov. Earl Warren over rent control. Warren maintained that rent control was still necessary in some California cities—no matter what the situation was in Utah.

Dairy Club Meets At Chatham Farm

Chatham—The Rock River 4-H Dairy club held the first meeting of its winter program Monday night, at the state farm at Chatham.

The club decided to hold a meeting each month during the winter season to discuss problems of interest to the dairy owner. Some of the topics selected were: care and feeding of calves, feeding cows for production, clean milk production, testing milk, and keeping production and feed records.

One of the highlights of Monday's meeting was the awarding of the Michigan Farmer trophy for the county's outstanding 4-H club boy to the club president, Fred Johnson. The award was presented by Fred C. Bernhardt, district 4-H club agent.

Mrs. William Cromell was hostess to the Eden Lutheran Ladies Aid at her home Thursday evening.

4-H Clubs Organized At Deerton School

Munising, Mich.—Two 4-H clubs have been organized at the Deerton school.

A boy's handicraft club has Robert Risku, president; Norbert Hostetter, vice president; Jackie Yokuem, secretary; and Ernest Bivens, treasurer. The boys are doing first and second year work. Most of the boys are busy building bird houses and saw horses.

The officers of the girls' clothing club are: Betty Caswell, president; Gloria Larson, vice president; Arlene Monette, secretary; and Sandra Dale, treasurer. The girls are learning to make dresses, skirts, towels, buttonholes, darts, and patches.

Mrs. Signe Lake is in charge of the 4-H club activities at Deerton.

Oliver Shampine Weds In Chicago

Munising—The recent marriage of Miss Dorothy Swartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Swartz, of Portland, Ore., to Oliver J. Shampine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Shampine, sr., of Munising, has been announced by her parents. The ceremony took place July 13 in Chicago, where the couple is now residing.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Fred Raymond has returned from Manchester, Ohio, where she has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Korvela for several weeks.

The AuTrain Parent-Teachers association will hold a bake sale Saturday afternoon at the Bokrus store, in AuTrain.

Donald Gatiss, storekeeper, third class, left Thursday for Norfolk, Va., following a leave spent here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gatiss.

The youngest president ever inaugurated was Theodore Roosevelt at 42, and the oldest, William Harrison at 68.

Dull Offices Tire Business Men Out

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—What makes the tired business man tired? "His office," said Leonard Hutton, interior decorator.

"A man's office should be like his den at home—comfortable and relaxing."

"But what is the average office like? It has an oversize desk—that's to show he's an important man—a swivel chair, two stiff chairs for visitors, and a leather-covered sofa. On the wall is a map of the United States—with flags stuck in it to impress his customers with how many salesmen he has across the country."

Hutton clucked disapprovingly. "It's too sober—too dull. It gives him no life. Badly designed rooms make people tired and nervous—but they don't realize why. A man can work more efficiently, and make a better impression on his associates, if his office doesn't look like an office."

Hutton is full of concrete suggestions to put a little umph in the American business office. He feels it should have some music, a hidden bar for entertaining prospects, no glaring lights, and colorful draperies that can be drawn automatically—by pushing a button.

"And no wall maps—good pictures or personalized photographs," he said. "Nor do you have to have stiff heavy chairs just because some crazy guy decided Gothic was a good style."

"You should have comfortable chairs arranged in a friendly seating group. Conference tables are no good. Who ever felt at ease at a conference table?"

If the business man must have files in his office, Hutton said, they should be recessed into the walls.

"Files only remind the visitor he ought to be back in his own office working. How can you sell him an idea if he isn't at ease?"

Hutton thinks the tired business man doesn't fare much better when he goes home to rest from his dingy office.

"He comes into a living room 'decorated' exactly in a what-do-they-use-these-days manner. Then the poor man has to sit in some uncomfortable reproductions of some ugly style that never was a style but just a period."

"There is no place for him to lie down, because his wife won't let him rest on her good living room sofa or on the bed—the bedspread might get wrinkled."

"So the man's unhappy at his office, unhappy at home—and that's why so much business is done in restaurants and cocktail bars."

Hutton, who recently decorated the Austrian embassy in Washington, is of German birth. He has a shop on "Mink Lane"—fancy east 57th street. He believes Americans concentrate too much on decorating their homes to please or impress their friends rather than to satisfy their own taste.

"They do so much to make automobiles comfortable here—and so little to make homes comfortable," he said.

Hotels Catering To Public Again

Customer Is Always Right Once More

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Denver—The hotel business, for so many of the past years a grim nightmare for the transient, finally seems to have settled into its old courtesy and efficiency.

The genial host is actually genial now, and not a snarling opportunist with supreme contempt for the folk who feed dollars into his establishment.

The help seems pleased to have you aboard, rather than sullenly bored with you and your scattered largesse. The service is generally dependable, courteous and in some instances, eager.

This even may be a slight harbinger of return to the old days of elegance in hotel living. Certainly a few of our better hostesses are sneaking quietly back to the frills and furbelows of the early century—of which, I assure you, I have only read and rarely experienced.

Ritz-Carlton Unchanged
The Ritz-Carlton in New York still clings stubbornly to the old European grace of service and accommodation, with a board of push-buttons in every room and the waiters lurking outside the door, eager to spring in to serve you without beckoning for a tip.

The St. Charles in New Orleans is a gracious and unhurried tavern, with more emphasis on the customer's happiness than on Cap O'Leary's cash register. There is a wonderfully sedate and service-wise place called the Vernon Manor in Cincinnati. The St. Francis in San Francisco is a home-from-home in the old-fashioned sense and the Broadmoor at nearby Colorado Springs operates on the basis that nobody expected a tourist camp when he checked in.

But my favorite of all favorites is the gingerbread old Brown Palace here in Denver. It was built in 1882 by an itinerant carpenter named Henry C. Brown, who struck it rich in real estate and wound up owning a great deal of the land on which the city now sits.

The old boy searched the world for building materials and decorations to make his boarding house a palace in the old opulent sense. Even its tremendous waste space of gallery was a curtsy to his idea of elegance—possibly to erase the fact that the three-cornered old building was erected on a cow lot.

Customer Always Right

Even since a baleful date in 1906, the Brown has made a steady practice of convincing the customer that he is right. On that day the hotel was on the receiving end of a fine object lesson. There was a rich old codger around, named Myron Stratton, who liked to come in from the mountains on a weekend to see the elephant and hear the owl. He loved music, ladies and whisky, in approximately that order, and he was a free and heavy spender.

One week-end brother Stratton and his cronies raised the roof with an impromptu piano recital and the half the guests in the hotel screamed murder. The assistant manager was instructed thereafter to see if he couldn't shoo old Stratton away from the door.

Next weekend the miner came in, wearing a blonde on one arm. The blonde was flanked by a poodle dog. Stratton attempted to register and was informed that the place was full, so sorry.

Stratton turned away and climbed into his buggy. He went to see old H. C. Brown and asked him how much he'd charge for his hotel. Mr. Brown said one million, five hundred thousand dollars. Stratton whipped out a checkbook and scribbled his name on the bottom of the check.

Next morning with title in hand he appeared at the hotel and fired the staff. He kept the hotel until 1923 when he sold it to C. K. Beutcher. But they still remember Mr. Stratton around the Brown and the customer since generally has been awful right.

Hotels are fine things, indeed, but utterly useless without patrons and patrons are notoriously cantankerous people.

My experience proves that the atom can save life as well as destroy. Today we stand on the threshold of a whole new era of scientific progress.

—Advertising executive I. S. Randall, treated with radioactive iodine for a cancer condition.

CUSTOMERS' CORNER

Why will food prices go up if the anti-trust lawyers win their suit to put A&P out of business?

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

Because this saves us money we are able to pass along these savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

The anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business, you will find your food bill is higher.

KYS Day Big Success Here

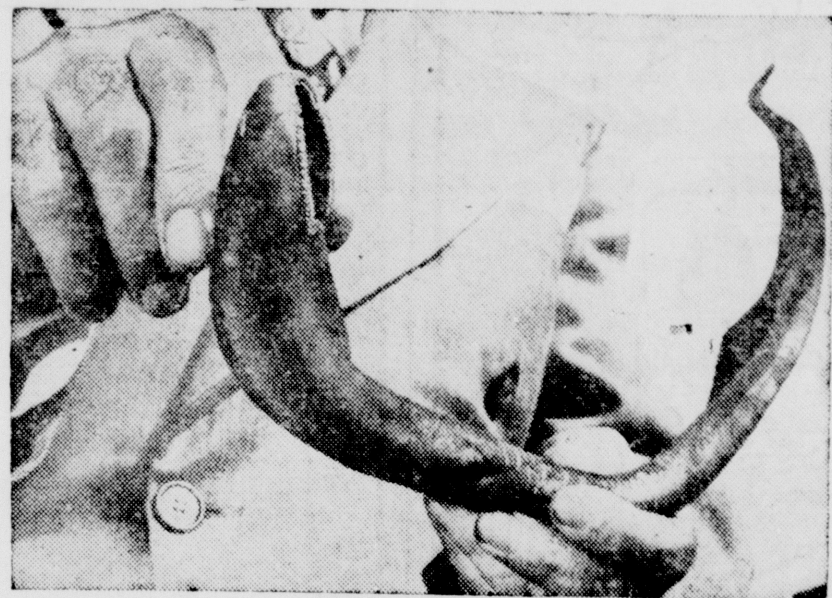

400 Attend Banquet At St. Joseph

Approximately 400 Delta county businessmen and school teachers attended the "Know Your Schools" banquet at the St. Joseph parish hall last night, capping the first "KYS" day held in Michigan. They heard a thought provoking message on mental health, delivered convincingly by Miss Esther L. Middlewood, director of mental health education in Michigan.

"Know Your Schools" day was sponsored by the Delta county teachers and was designed to provide the businessmen of the county with an opportunity to learn more about the operation of the schools and the teaching techniques and facilities employed. In a sense, KYS day was a reciprocal program to the Business-Industry-Education day sponsored by the businessmen of the county.

The businessmen visited the various schools in the county during the day, attended classes and many of them participated in the hot lunch program at the schools at noon.

Great Lakes Fishermen Tell Story About Big Profits That Got Away

VILLAIN: The sea lamprey, an eel-like creature, is one reason the Great Lakes' trout catch is declining. Note the sucker mouth which the lamprey attaches to the trout, drawing out the body fluids.

By JACK HARR
NEA Staff Correspondent
Waukegan, Ill.—(NEA) — The Great Lakes commercial fishermen are telling a fish story these days. It's not about the one that got away, however, but about the business that got away—the fishing business.

The combined effect of an invasion of sea lampreys, a type of eel and pollution from the industries that line the Great Lakes shoreline have made the trout all but disappear from the lake waters.

A test set of nets were drawn off Waukegan. In years gone by the nets would have been bulging with 15,000 pounds or more of trout, but the test catch was exactly six fish.

from a single pattern and the pressures to achieve to a standard for all. She said that it is essential to recognize the difference in individuals.

Conan Fisher, president of the Delta county district, M.E.A., was toastmaster at the banquet. Rev. Fr. Patrick McArron, of St. Joseph church, gave the invocation and Rev. Gustav Lund, of Bethany Lutheran, offered the benediction. Clarence Moore, president of the Escanaba district, M.E.A., gave the address of welcome and Dr. Roy Johnson, vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, gave the response.

Music at the banquet was presented by the E.H.S. string ensemble directed by Clara Karas Somers and by the St. Joseph high school glee club directed by Sister Cedella. Group singing was led by Wallace Cameron, of Gladstone, with Donna Mae Lindahl, accompanist.

A replica of a typical classroom, complete with students, was set up in the lobby at the banquet hall and the tables were decorated with miniature "little red school-houses", prepared by Miss Kranstover's art classes.

VICTIM: Frank Rackendorf, 71, is one of the once-prosperous Great Lakes fishermen who have found hard times the result of the declining commercial fishing industry. Now he sweeps out the barn where rotting nets are stored.

In Leland, Mich., the last commercial fisherman in the area returned from a trip that once would have paid off with 2000 pounds of lake trout. His catch was one trout, weighing about a pound and a half.

In 1945, Waukegan's trout catch was 1,195,000 pounds. Last year, it was 20,000 pounds.

Many of the fishermen turned to chubs, instead of trout. But the market has become flooded with chubs, and the price has dropped to the point where it is almost unprofitable to operate.

The great mystery of the disappearing trout was once blamed on overfishing. But fishermen point to the great numbers of the chub catch to refute that argument, and advance their own theory that the lamprey is the big culprit.

The sea lamprey is actually a parasitic eel-like creature that attaches itself to the trout with a suction-like mouth and withdraws the body fluids. It first invaded the Great Lakes from the Atlantic Ocean about 1921 and has thrived on fresh water living.

There is evidence that the lamprey is advancing on small fresh water lakes throughout the Midwest. Pleasure fishing may soon suffer as much as commercial operations from the ocean invader.

Lake shore factories dump everything from cyanide to cinders in the water. And coal-burning steamboats drop their ashes right on what used to be the best trout spawning ground in the Great Lakes. Observers credit this with at least a major assist to the lamprey in making the lakes unattractive to trout.

The net result is that between 15,000 and 20,000 men have all but

Schaffer Pastor Is Transferred To Ishpeming

Schaffer, Mich.—Father Wilfred Pelletier, pastor of Sacred Heart church in Schaffer for the past three years, has been transferred to St. Johns church in Ishpeming and will leave Tuesday for the new pastorate, it has been announced.

Prior to serving at Schaffer, Father Pelletier served as pastor at St. Johns church in Garden and at Our Lady of Lourdes church in Engadine. He served as assistant pastor at St. Johns in Marquette for a year, at St. Ann's in Menominee for two and half years, and at Lake Linden for one and a half years.

Father Pelletier succeeds Fr. L. E. Galven, who died last March. His successor in the Schaffer parish has not been announced.

IF YOUR GAS-TANK COULD TALK—

It Would Say You Need HEET for Quick, Easy, Winter Starting

Your gas-tank knows. Whenever the mercury drops, moisture in your gas-tank condenses, becomes water. When it goes below 32 degrees, ice forms. This causes gas-line freeze-ups. Prevent freeze-ups by having your garage or service station pour a can of HEET into your gas tank.

Scientifically engineered, it absorbs moisture—gives you amazingly quick, easy starting and faster pickup. Easier starting saves your battery. Helps you avoid towing charges and costly repair bills.

Do what millions of wise motorists now do. Get a can of HEET today—and make it a habit to add HEET whenever you buy gas! Only 65c a can at your garage or service station. Manufactured by HEET DIVISION, DeMert & Dougherty, Inc., Chicago 32.

Trolley Lines Are Declining

5000 Street Cars Running In U. S.

Washington, D. C. — For 30 years, streetcars have been on the wane in the United States. Today, their number is less than one-third of the one-time peak.

But there will always be a trolley fan for this mode of transit. Their view is well supported by a look at city transportation systems all over the world.

Here in the U. S., trolley cars developed to modern specifications since 1935 are fast, quiet, comfortable, and economical. Pittsburgh operates nearly 700, including 100 new this year. The 5,000 now in service in more than a score of cities will almost certainly continue on the scene for a long time to come.

Abroad, Australia's all-short cities have reported a swingback from buses to electric streetcars, notes the National Geographic Society. Russia and Spain have copied some recent American-type trolleys. Cities in Europe, South America, Asia, and Africa eagerly seek the best of the cars retired from service in the United States.

New York Discards Travel Far

Surface trolleys rolled their last mile on Manhattan Island in mid-1947. Bronx and Brooklyn lines are making way for big Diesel buses. Hartford, Grand Rapids, Syracuse, Nashville, Miami, and Houston are a few of the many other cities where the streetcar belongs to the past.

However, forty-two ten-year-old streetcars retired a year ago in New York's Bronx are now among the finest in Vienna. The war took heavy toll of the Austrian city's 3,600 trolleys, then already past their prime. Another 25 comparatively new Bronx cars were shipped last March to Bombay. Throughout Europe and Asia in general, cars are overaged and overworked.

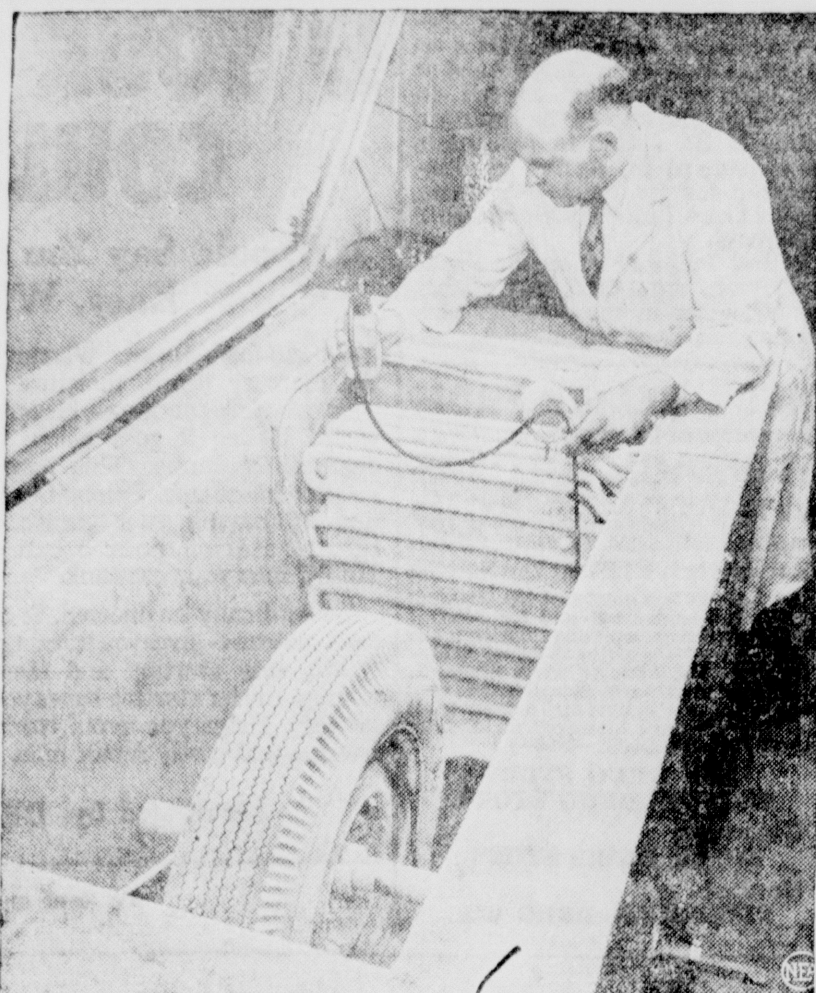

Most South American city streetcars are U. S.-built. Lima, Peru, and Sao Paulo, Brazil, have bought 100 New York City vehicles since World War II. In Sao Paulo, the red-painted, closed cars are called "shrimps." They carry peak loads four times a day because Paulinos like to dash home for lunch.

Rio de Janeiro, with its beautiful beaches and hills, has an elaborate streetcar system, jammed at rush hours. Ever since the bond issue that financed their first electric route, Rio strap-hangers have called their cars "blondes."

Trolley Special Delivery

Europe's letter-boxes-on-tracks long have appealed to American tourists. Many remember Madrid's streetcars with their postboxes in front, and the waiting clerk who emptied them as the cars passed a postoffice. In Amsterdam, cars running to the Central Station carried postboxes on the outside, speeding mail to trains.

New York pioneered tracked vehicles with Broadway horse-drawn cars in 1827. London waited until 1861. The first electric traction line of any extent is credited to Richmond, Virginia, in 1888. Streetcars really pushed for-

TIRE STILL BOUNCES AT 75 BELOW—The tire resting in the deep freeze above is made from a new synthetic rubber compound that bounces instead of shattering at 75 degrees below zero. Physicist G. L. Hall at the Firestone Company laboratory in Akron, O., checks data on the Arctic rubber tire which may enable engineers to solve many problems of machinery operation in sub-zero climates. The best rubber tires freeze hard as rock at 60 below, develop permanent flat spots when parked, and lose their treads through chipping. The new tire is expected to remain serviceable at 75 degrees below zero.

New Field Scout Executive Hired For Iron Range

S. W. Sundeen, president of the Hiawathaland Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced the employment of Mr. James L. Steffen as field scout executive for the Iron range district of the council.

Mr. Steffen was born in Niagara, Wis., and will be 25 years of age in January, 1950. He attended school in Appleton, Wisconsin, where he has lived since childhood and graduated from Superior State Teachers College at Superior, Wis., in June, 1949.

Upon finishing high school Mr. Steffen became a gunner in the Air Corps, and served in the European Theatre of Operations for 2 1/2 years. He is an Eagle Scout and completed the National Training School for Scout Executives on November 10th.

Mr. Steffen will arrive in Iron Mountain to assume his new duties about November 17th and will be assisted for a short time until he gets acquainted with the Scouters in the district by Mr. Edmund S. Kot of the Executive Staff who has been servicing the Iron range district since Wyn Schallert left.

ward from 1902 to 1917, while the motor vehicle was still an infant. Trolley excursions were popular, traction companies had plain and fancy cars that could be chartered, and built amusement parks as goals of excursion. runs Baltimore's black-adorned funeral car, Dolores, did a brisk business for years, since the city's cemeteries were mostly along the trolley lines.

Union Services
For Thanksgiving

Union Thanksgiving services Thursday, November 24, are being planned by many churches of the district.

Bethany Lutheran and Immanuel Lutheran congregations are joining in their 13th annual union devotion at a morning service at 10 at Immanuel church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Gustav Lund, Bethany pastor, and his theme will be "Thanksgiving." The senior choirs of both churches will sing "Let All Things Now Living" and Rosalie Tonkin and Mary Jean Kidd will sing a duet. The offering will be for Lutheran world action.

The First Presbyterian church and the First Methodist parishes will unite for a Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church at 10 a. m. Rev. James H. Bell will be the speaker and the Methodist choir will sing.

In Bark River the Covenant, Lutheran and Methodist churches are joining in a Thanksgiving devotional Thursday evening at 8 at the Lutheran church.

Students of the Trenary High school held a snake dance through town Thursday evening, with music being furnished by Hugo Martin and his accordion. After the snake dance a big bonfire was built in the school yard where a doll dressed in the Eben High school colors, green and white, was burned at the stake. A marsh-mallow roast followed. Trenary defeated Eben in their first game of the year 28-23.

Today's Recipes

Here is the method Mrs. William Geniz of 631 Garden avenue, Manistique, uses to prepare wild rabbit.

Baked Wild Rabbit
Cut rabbit in serving pieces. Let stand in cold water to which one tablespoon of salt and one tablespoon of soda have been added for one hour. Remove and dry. Salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Fry in hot fat until golden brown. Remove and put in roaster adding one or two cups of hot water and onion. Cover tightly and allow to cook in slow oven until tender.

Mrs. Geniz adds that venison may be prepared the same way.

Herring Recipe
Book Available

Lansing, Nov. 17 (P)—Housewives who would like to utilize some of the huge haul of herring now being brought in by commercial fishermen on the Great Lakes were urged to send for a recipe book.

The conservation department reported that the book, containing 14 tested recipes, is available from the Lansing conservation headquarters or Michigan state college. The book includes recipes for Danish herring, baked herring fillets, herring salad, herring scuffle and pickled herring.

The catch, centering around the Keweenaw Peninsula and Saginaw Bay is expected to equal or exceed last year's 8,000,000 pounds. Most of the catch is made during the November run.

Women's Club Speaker Tells Of Glimpses At World Personalities

Seven newspapermen in the family made it possible for Mrs. Judith W. Lowe to meet and know the many world personalities whom she mentioned at the meeting of the Women's Club, Tuesday afternoon.

"There never were two greater diplomats who led two greater countries than were Churchill and Roosevelt," said Mrs. Lowe as she discussed their meeting at Casablanca, where were laid the first stones for the United Nations.

"Alfonso of Spain, was a man, physically, spiritually, and morally unfit for rule," explained Mrs. Lowe as she discussed political events in Spain, especially the birth and death of the New Republic which she witnessed.

"Franco, first and always a Fascist, won the struggles in Spain for Hitler," Mrs. Lowe pointed out in explaining why the country of Spain is not a free democratic republic. She proceeded to explain that if Franco is recognized and Spain is added to the United Nations, it would be because Spain is on the Mediterranean, geographically a strategic position, and because Spain has tungsten and other critical materials.

"One can understand why leaders are shot," said Mrs. Lowe while discussing the betrayal of France. Mrs. Lowe was present at the great Bastille Day parades and shows before the war, and said that at that time it seemed impossible that war and its destruction should follow as it did.

A discussion of succeeding events which brought distress to so many in France helped to explain the success that communists achieved there by bringing food, clothing, and coal to the hungry and cold.

The King and Queen of England, and Cripps, the head of the Exchequer, were included among the truly great people whom Mrs. Lowe met. "The qualities of simplicity, modesty, and humility were very evident with them, as they are with all truly great people," Mrs. Lowe said in describing a press conference where sixty were present and the Queen called each by name.

"Socialized medicine was the solution to the health problems in England where many couldn't afford the care they needed, and where now no one dies because of neglect," Mrs. Lowe said in speaking of the English people who had so little of simple necessities and who complained so very little.

"The Germans are not a defeated people," said Mrs. Lowe and further explained that all the youth educated under Hitler were inoculated with a passion for dominance. "The only hope for democracy in Germany is the very young generation."

"I wish many of us knew American history and what is happening in the United States as well as does Stalin," said Mrs. Lowe. "He is a man of great intellect who possesses unquestioned power."

In discussing Peron and his influence in Argentina, Mrs. Lowe quoted one of our representatives as saying, "There are countries where a representative of the United States feels it unwise to express himself."

In showing what happened in other countries, Mrs. Lowe stressed our responsibilities at the polls and in conclusion stated: "If we dedicate and reconsecrate ourselves we can bring to the world the greatest gift and leave the greatest heritage it has ever known—a world at peace."

Bill Corson spoke briefly to express his appreciation to the Women's Club for sending him as a delegate to the Older Boys' Conference at Ishpeming.

At the conclusion of Tuesday's meeting, Mrs. C. F. Anderson, resigning as president of the Women's Club, presented the gravel to Mrs. Carl Anderson, the new president.

The hostess committee in charge of refreshments included: Mrs. Bundy; Mrs. Wm. Shin; Mrs. Radgens; Mrs. Reque; Mrs. Heitman; Mrs. LeDue; Mrs. D. McLean; Mrs. J. Hanson; and Mrs. E. T. King.

School Students Taught Driving

Parking And Smooth
Driving Stressed

Twenty-four Manistique High school seniors are learning that though they have driven cars for several years and readily could pass drivers' license tests, they are still far from expert drivers. They are taking Drivers Training, a part of the high school curriculum, under the instruction of T. H. Reque and Stanley Carlyon. The instructions run for a ten week period.

Students taking instruction are divided into six groups, four to a group, each period taking up an hour of time.

The instructors place emphasis on correct driving habits and skilled techniques. Students are taught to park and to drive smoothly.

The car being used is provided through the courtesy of Crawford & Holland, local car dealers.

Another class will be started the first of the year and when this first instruction will be given a class made up of junior high school students.

Mrs. John Vaughan inspected the VFW, Hiawatha Auxiliary, No. 2909 in Escanaba on Tuesday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Don MacLean and Mrs. Frank Weber.

FOR HIGH FLIGHT—A new disposable, constant-flow oxygen mask, to be used by airline passengers in high-altitude flights, is modeled by a pretty miss at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O. Developed by the Air Materiel Command, the mask consists of a thin plexiglass bellows which expands and contracts as the wearer breathes in oxygen. Exhaled gasses escape through a porous paper facepiece. A plastic tube connects the mask to the plane's oxygen supply.

Assistance Offered In Forming AA Unit

The Escanaba group of Alcoholics Anonymous is offering its assistance to persons in Manistique who are interested in organizing a group here, it was announced today.

Anyone in Manistique who is interested in the A. A. is asked to address inquiries to Box 43, Escanaba. Members of that group in visiting Manistique will contact them on plans for organization.

Handy Hands
Members of the "Handy Hands" Extension Club held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Emery Rieckhoff, 440 Delta avenue on Tuesday afternoon.

A brief business meeting was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. John Olsen, and the members displayed the gifts they have completed, using the patterns obtained from the Extension Service. A social hour followed, and the hostess served a delicious lunch.

Members present were Mesdames William Arnold, Les Poupour, Rueben Peterson, Henry Archey, William Maxwell, John Olsen, Ed Ekdahl, Clinton Larson, Clarence Whiteman, and Richard Poupour. Guests were Mrs. Fred Boivine of Evanston, Illinois and Mrs. Helge Gustafson of this city.

Surprise Party
Mrs. William Barker was pleasantly surprised on Tuesday evening when her birthday club called at her home on Pearl street to help celebrate her birthday anniversary. A 6:30 pot luck lunch was enjoyed after which three tables of contract bridge were in play. Honors went to Mrs. Norman Martin, high, Mrs. Victor Schuster, second and Mrs. Harold McNamara, third. Mrs. Ferd Gorsche received the special award. Lunch was served after the games and Mrs. Barker was presented with a lovely gift.

Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. H. Schuetter attended funeral services for Mrs. Walter Bjorkquist in Escanaba on Monday.

Sling Shot And Air Rifle Pests
Are At It Again

Sling shots and air rifles have been the cause of much complaint, Roy Anderson, chief of police states and he is asking the cooperation of the youngsters' parents in curbing the nuisance.

The use of sling shots, says Chief Anderson, is a sort of a fad among youngsters and it usually runs its course in a few days. The fact that grey squirrels are unusually numerous this fall seems to be the incentive for the use of these missiles and that, of course, is in itself because these squirrels are protected the same as our song birds. But the big trouble is that squirrels are not the only targets. Dogs, cats, children, windows, light bulbs and anything else that irresponsible youngsters take a notion to try and hit have been victims.

Police will confiscate these guns and sling shots and in cases where damage is done the parents of the child using them will be held responsible.

Game Law Violators
Pay Fines In Local
Justice Court

William Stead and Clem Vallet, arrested Saturday in Seney township and charged with carrying a loaded gun in a game area, pleaded guilty before Judge W. G. Stephens in justice court late Monday and were fined $25 along with $8.50 costs. The judge stated that the penalty was more severe than usual because of the attitude of the men involved. In order to make it appear that they had no loaded gun in the car, they had discharged the firearm and in so doing had set fire to their car.

Richard Hale, also arrested in Seney township by officer, Leslie Walstrom, and charged with hunting before the season opened, was fined $25 and costs.

Judge and Mrs. W. G. Stephens, George Stephens and Mrs. William Bauman motored to Petoskey Tuesday where Mrs. Stephens will undergo a physical examination. Mrs. Bauman is remaining in Petoskey for several days with Mrs. Stephens.

Mrs. Alice Smith of Newport, Wash., has been visiting here the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Green and with friends. She is leaving Friday for Sault Ste. Marie, Canada and from there to Tampa, Fla., where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Maggie Freeman.

Nahma

Woman's Club
Nahma, Mich.—The Woman's club met at the Civic Center on Tuesday evening. During the business meeting plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held at the regular meeting in December. Names were drawn for the gift exchange. The committee to serve at the party will be chairman, Mrs. Martin Kousbaugh, Mrs. Henry Giroux, Mrs. Melvin Druding, Mrs. Victor Thibault, Mrs. Ed Tobin and Mrs. William Juneau.

A social hour of cards followed the meeting with prizes won by Mrs. Ed Tobin, bridge; and Mrs. Joe Schafer, 500.

Refreshments were served by the following committee: chairman, Mrs. Fred Olmsted, Mrs. El Bedard, Mrs. Jack Schwartz, Sr. and Mrs. Fred Popour.

News of Deer Hunters
George Ritter, local high school student, filled his license before 8 o'clock on the opening day by shooting down an 8-point buck weighing 150 pounds near the Half Mile Bridge.

John Mercier, another high school student who is deer hunting for the first time bagged a 3-point buck Monday morning while hunting with his father along FFF-13 north of Nahma Junction in Hiawatha National Forest.

The 7-point buck that Fred Popour sr. killed about 8:30 Monday morning must have met with an accident some years ago because one of its legs was partly missing. The fact that the hide had grown over the stub is an indication that it happened some time ago. Fred's shots at the animal broke two other legs before it was downed. There were 5 points on one side and 2 on the other, but the animal really had been a 10 pointer as 3 points were broken off. Popour

To Be ObservedH. W. Smiths Plan
Open House Sat'y

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Smith, well-known, highly respected Gladstone couple, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary this weekend.

Open house will be held at their home, 1119 Michigan avenue, Saturday from 4 to 8 o'clock, at which time their friends may call.

Herbert Smith and Alta Lancaster, member of an early Gladstone family, were united in marriage on Nov. 22, 1899, at the Lancaster home, where the Peter McIntyres now reside, by the Rev. Thomas R. Mott, then pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, renamed Memorial Methodist church.

Except for a 4-year period at Enderlin, N. D., the Smiths have been constant residents of Gladstone. They reared a nephew, Paul Fletcher, who now resides at Oskaloosa, Tenn.

The observance here will be attended by Arthur Cassidy, Minneapolis, who served as best man at the wedding of the Smiths a half century ago.

Mr. Smith, a veteran Soo Line engineer, retired from active duty three years ago.

Railroad Trainmen
Elect New Officers

J. M. Hendrickson was elected president of Goodwill Lodge, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at a meeting held Tuesday night at the Eagles hall.

Chosen as vice president was William Tufnell. Earl Louis is secretary-treasurer and Gilbert Lasky publicity officer. L. J. Davis was picked as delegate with W. G. Ward alternate.

On the organization committee are Jack Kegel, A. Knutsen and William Heslip.

Obituary

BRIAN CUNNINGHAM
Private funeral services for Brian A. M. Cunningham, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cunningham, were conducted yesterday morning at the Skradski funeral home. Burial was made in the family plot in Fernwood cemetery.

A funeral mass was offered in All Saints' Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette and the pupils of All Saints' parochial school, which the youth attended as a fifth grader, were present in a body. Music of the mass was sung by 7th and 8th grade choir.

Persons from out of town attending the requiem included Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krutina and Miss Mary Krutina of Nahma, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller, Mrs. Wm. L. Cunningham, Ray Schaak, Herman, Douglas and Robert Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. John Bright and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson of Elmhurst, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thibault of Nahma, Charles Benus of Wilmette, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mulrooney of Elgin, Ill.

was hunting near Billy Good's Marsh when he got the 150 pounder.

Added to the opening day successes is the 10-point buck shot by Joe Pilon north of the Junction.

Ivan Sheedlo, who is with a hunting party from Detroit, filled his license the first day when he shot an 8-point buck up near the Waco Tower.

CARD OF THANKS

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tittsworth and daughter Jan of Detroit have arrived to spend a week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Strand. Mr. Tittsworth is here hunting and was successful in downing his buck at 8:30 on the opening morning. It is an 8 pointer and weighs two hundred pounds.

Harold Neff, 1720 Minneapolis avenue was successful in downing a 5 point, 160 pound buck on Wednesday morning on top of the Bluff. He had hunted in various parts on Tuesday but didn't get a thing and on Wednesday went to hunt on the bluff and was gone only twenty minutes.

Don Chase got a spike horn deer weighing 120 pounds at 9:15 on the opening day of season.

Attorney Alger Strom and son Alger, Jr., city, Walter Strom and Fred Naumann of Topinabee, Mich., are hunting near Brampton on the Escanaba river. Alger, Jr., was successful in getting an 8 point buck at 8:30 on the opening morning.

Fred Therrian and his father, Ben Therrian who are hunting at the Wilmet camp near Watson were successful in bagging their bucks the first morning of hunting season. Fred got a 10 point, 200 pound buck and his father, an 8 point, 150 buck. Joseph Therrian, Oscar and Albert Wilmet are also hunting at the same camp.

Pfc. Gerald Bunno, who is spending a twenty day furlough, visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dolor Bunno, downed a nice deer weighing about 165 pounds around 4:45 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. He was hunting at his father's camp. Pfc. Bunno is stationed at Muroc Field, near Los Angeles, Calif.

The Ewald Carlsons have moved from Gladstone to Norway where Mr. Carlson is employed. Mr. F. R. Christensen, father of Mrs. R. J. Rains, who spent the summer here at the Rains home, left early this week for Florida where he will winter.

Jim Damitz, hunting at Camp Whipporwill on Chippeny Creek, killed a nice prong buck the opening day about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Most Farms
ElectrifiedREA Proves Boon
To Rural Folk

More than three-quarters of America's farms are now connected to electric power lines, according to the Rural Electrification Administration's annual unelectrified farm survey released today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The latest REA estimate indicates that the number of electrified farms in the country is 4,582,016 or 78.2 percent of the total number of farms reported in the 1945 Farm Census. The 1948 estimate was 4,019,476 or 68.6 percent. The increase indicated is the largest recorded in any single year. Of the record-making number of connections made during the year, an estimated 77 percent were made by REA-financed cooperatives and other borrowers.

According to the survey, 1,277,153 farms were still without central station electric service, as of June 30, 1949, on the basis of the total number of farms enumerated in the 1945 census. In addition to these unserved farms, there are hundreds of thousands of unelectrified rural non-farm dwellings, cross-roads businesses, schools, churches and other rural establishments which are not included in the survey.

When REA was established in 1935, only 10.9 percent of the Nation's farms were electrified. Of the farms connected to power lines since that time, approximately 57 percent are now getting service from REA-financed facilities.

Ray Tordeur filled his license on Wednesday morning about 9:30 when he downed an 8 point, 175 pound buck. He was hunting near Cornell.

Chapekis, Escanaba, And Beveridge, Gladstone, Named To All-U. P. Eleven

Schram Makes Second Team; Carlson, Manistique, And Jugo Of Braves On 3rd '11'

Five Eskymos, St. Joe's Jack Miron Given Honorable Mention

James Chapekis, veteran Escanaba high school guard and a sparkplug both on defense and offense, and Burly Bill Beveridge Gladstone, one of the biggest and roughest tackles in the peninsula, were named on the all-Upper Peninsula Sportswriters' association following a peninsula-wide poll of coaches, officials, players and writers.

James Schram, Gladstone's able pass snatcher and a wildcat on defense, was honored by being selected for the second team, and his mate, Stanley Jugo, and Manistique's dependable lineman, Robert Carlson, won places at center and tackle, respectively, on the third eleven.

Five Escanaba Eskymos given honorable mention in close competition for places on the first three teams were Dick Danielson, tailback; Buddy Weber, quarterback triphreath; Dick Shomin, lanky junior end; Bob St. Martin, burly junior guard, and scrappy Tom Nault, center, who were barely squeezed out of third-team selections.

'It Seems To Me'

By JIM WARD

Roy Johnson, who hooks 'em for Corbett's Corner in the Escanaba Major league, last night hit the highest game of the young bowling season and the highest rolled in Escanaba since Leo Godin had 287 on opening Classic league night two years ago.

Johnson' tab was a neat 284 which he compiled with 10 consecutive pocket hits—all were right in there and only the tenth was a trifle full—and an eight count on the last two balls. He left the 1-3-5-8 standing on his eleventh pitch after 10 solid strikes and then plucked off the 3-8 for a 284.

That's also good for the second highest score since Gump Olson rapped a perfect 300 before the war—World War II, that is. We must keep our wars straight here because the Gumper is still a young man.

Congratulations to you, Roy!

Cuff notes: Babs Petaja, of the hockey-playing Petajas, got his buck at Tony Seidl's camp north of Cornell on opening day . . . The Peshigo Rockets can forget about signing Jug Girard for the independent basketball season . . . He's inked a contract with Oshkosh Stars of the Wisconsin State Basketball league . . . He'll join 'em December 11 . . . Ben Pederson, 16-year-old tackle from Marquette, Mich., whom all folks who saw the Marquette-Gladstone game of 1948 will remember, is an outstanding frosh prospect at Michigan . . . Pederson hits 200 pounds . . . And he hits hard with those 210 pounds.

Newberry is garnering all kinds of football honors this season . . . The high school Indians won the Great Lakes championship, wallowed Petoskey of Lower Michigan, 35-13, challenged Stambaugh for the U. P. championship on the basis of its undefeated record and had the coach of the year in the U. P. in freshman Morley Fraser . . . Comes now Curt Gustafson, Newberry, senior end at Northern Michigan in Marquette, to be named "most valuable" at the Wildcat institution . . . Northern won six and lost only to Michigan Tech this season.

Marinette Gold and Silver Glove boxers are preparing for cards against the Soo and against Green Bay . . . A home-and-home card with Escanaba boxers also is being arranged . . . Calumet has been invited to join the Michigan-Wisconsin High School Football conference . . . Calumet has just completed its most dismal season in years but supporters think Walter Kitch, new coach, can meet MW caliber.

Munising Mustangs Host To Reds In Cage Opener

Munising, Nov. 17—Coach Bob Villeneuve's Mather high school Mustangs will get their first test of the new basketball season next Tuesday night when they play host to the Marquette Redmen at 8:30 in Mather gymnasium. The game will touch off a 16-tilt schedule for the Orange and Black.

The Mather coach is working with a squad of 15 first-stringers which includes seven hold-overs from last year.

The season's schedule:

- *Nov. 22—Marquette here.
- *Dec. 2—Newberry here.

Bark River Five Opens At Powers Tomorrow; St. Joe Here Saturday

Scribe Picks Ohio State To Nip Wolverines And Gophers To Clip Badgers

Chicago, Nov. 17 (AP)—The final bounce of a crystal ball which now looks like a battered old football: Ohio State 14, Michigan 13—The Wolverines, relaxed and with no Rose Bowl worries, are a one-touchdown favorite among the wizards of odds. But we'll say that the Buckeyes, who haven't had to hit a real emotional peak this season will be on fire for a performance paying off with the undisputed big ten title and a Rose Bowl jaunt. Not that Michigan won't be up for this one which would give the Wolverines a third straight title, an unprecedented conference feat.

Minnesota 13, Wisconsin 7—This is the other phase of the day's two-act drama of "who goes bowling." Wisconsin has come a long way from the pre-season period when the experts figured the Badgers would be fighting it out with Indiana for cellar honors. But the Badgers' persistent attack will wear itself out on the brawny Gophers, who have rediscovered what to do with a football. It will be bye-bye for the Badgers, unless the Gophers get "fa-teague-ed" (whoops).

Notre Dame 35, Iowa 14—It's No. 8 for the Irish, even if Bob Williams passes every time on fourth down. Iowa used to surprise Notre Dame, but Eddie Anderson can't do it this time. Use of bear traps is illegal in Notre Dame stadium.

Purdue 18, Indiana 7—The old oaken bucket gets kicked around, and usually the dope sheet, too, in this rivalry. But the Boiler-makers appear to have just a shade too much backfield class.

Illinois 21, Northwestern 14—Johnny Karras is getting to be a one-man gang for the Illini. The wildcats, however, may be hard stuffing in a bag since Northwestern needs a closing win to brighten a disappointing season.

Michigan State 35, Arizona 7—The Spartans were still hearing those Frank Leahy paeans when Oregon State clipped 'em.

Many Grid Stars On Emerald Cage Squad This Year

Manistique, Nov. 17—Names on the Manistique high school basketball squad, as announced by Coach Robert Hussey, sound very much like the roll call of first string players on the Emerald football team.

On the varsity squad are these familiar names, Everett Patz, Bob Carlson, Jerry Anderson, Eugene Schneider, Dick Burnis, Norm Jahn, Don Quiek, Larry Ekdahl, Don Lancer, Jack Minor, Gerald Popour, Lloyd Gould, Russell Demars, George Hough, Bob Weber, and George MacFarlane.

Coach Hussey has been working the boys heavily on fundamentals of basketball the first few weeks being devoted to this phase of training; but now the team is being given a real workout and according to the coach is showing up well.

The first game of the season will be played at the American Soo on the evening of Friday, December 2. The following evening, a game will be played with the Canadian Soo team. The first home game is on December 7 against Gladstone.

Eight Teams Join 'Stique Cage League; First Game Dec. 6

Manistique, Nov. 17—The Manistique City Basketball league is now complete with eight teams in the lineup. Listed are, the Inland, Paper Mill, Cooks, Blaney-Gulliver, VFW, National Guard, Old Timers and the American Legion.

Scheduled games will start on the evening of December 6 with two games being played each Tuesday and Thursday evening throughout the season. All games will be held in the old gymnasium.

Practices are now being held each Tuesday and Thursday evening.

Oregon's McGuire Is Lineman Of The Week

Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 17 (AP)—Curley-haired Stan McGuire said, "I'm overwhelmed."

Told that he had been named lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll today for his sparkling work Saturday in Oregon State's 25-20 upset football win over Michigan State. The 22-year-old right end said, "I just did what the coaches taught me."

What they taught him, apparently was how to kick field goals (one), how to convert (two), how to block kicks (one for a safety), how to snap passes (one paved the way to a touchdown) and assorted other information to the discomfort of Michigan State.

A full-time five foot 11 inch, 192-pound player who backs up the line on defense, McGuire was the spark in OSC's surprising win. But head coach Kip Taylor said he wasn't particularly surprised.

Wings Continue Scorching Pace In Hockey Race

Detroit, Nov. 17 (AP)—The league leading Detroit Red Wings continued to set a torrid pace in the National Hockey league race last night as they took the Chicago Blackhawks 4-1 before 10,711 fans.

It was the Detroiters' sixth straight game without a setback and left them three points ahead of the second-place, Toronto Maple Leafs.

The victory was a sweet one for the Red Wings as they scored three goals while Chicago was

Two Spartans Dropped From Football Squad

Players Stayed Out After Curfew At California Resort

Arrowhead Springs, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—Michigan State's football team set about today to fly to Arizona, and two gridders were conspicuously absent.

In a possibly unprecedented move in MSC annals both were dropped from the squad for breaking training.

The disciplinary action was taken against right half Marty Kelly of Detroit and guard John Yocca of Windber, Pa. The two were given train tickets back to Lansing and left Arrowhead Springs Wednesday night. They will not play in the final game against Arizona university Saturday night and will not receive letters.

Both were penalized for breaking the bed-time curfew. The players ordinarily must be in their rooms by 10 p. m.

Tuesday night the squad was allowed an extra hour of grace with an 11 p. m. curfew. Yocca did not check in till 4:20 a. m. and Kelly was still missing at 5:30 a. m. But showed up later.

Coach Biggie Munn and his assistants, meanwhile, were making frantic phone calls to hospitals and police in a search for the missing players.

The disciplinary action was not taken until after Munn consulted with the squad to sound out sentiment on what should be done about the escapade.

Athletic Director Ralph Young and Dean Lloyd E. Emmons, head of the athletic council, both with the MSC delegation, also were consulted before the decision was made to send Kelly and Yocca home.

"The whole squad is just sick about this thing," Munn said. "I'm sorry we had to be so harsh on the boys but it was the only thing to do."

"The squad felt the two boys let them down by breaking training. We're especially sorry this had to happen because the team has behaved so wonderfully well on the trip."

Yocca, a junior, was a second string tackle. Kelly, a senior, substituted at right half for Lynn Chandrois, star back from Flint.

The rest of the squad was due to leave Arrowhead Springs to fly to Tucson today at 12 noon Pacific coast time (3 p. m. EST). The trip was expected to take about two and one half hours.

Michigan's Putich Okeh In The Clutch

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP)—The "one-play" label slapped on Michigan's sophomore quarterback, Bill Putich, is there with good reason.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan calls on the 165-pound signal caller for key plays—and key plays only.

In Michigan's eight games to date, Putich has played only 12 minutes and 40 seconds, an average of 95 seconds per game.

But he makes those 95 seconds count. Putich has made an enviable record of five pass completions in eight attempts, two touchdowns, two others so close officials were puzzled momentarily, and a total gain of 45 yards.

Here's the way he has worked to date:

Against Michigan State—playing time 10 seconds, one pass, one completion, one touchdown, 11 yards.

Against Purdue—playing time 30 seconds, two passes, one completion, one touchdown, 12 yards.

Against Stanford—playing time 160 seconds, one pass, one completion, ball left one inch from goal line, 12 yards.

Against Minnesota—playing time 60 seconds, two passes, two completions, successive passes left ball one foot from goal line, 10 yards.

SPARTANS SHORT

East Lansing, Nov. 17 (AP)—Al Kircher, head basketball coach at Michigan State college, said today his team will have to make up a deficiency in height this year with team speed and ball handling. Heading for the season opener Dec. 3 at Jenison Fieldhouse against Michigan, Kircher has only one letterman over six feet, three inches. Center Ray Steffen, Flint junior, tops the mark by one inch, leaving him considerably shorter than most Big-Ten collegiate pivot men.

Lots Of Takers Of Army-Navy Tabs At $6 A Throw

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 17 (AP)—More people can't get tickets for the Army-Navy football game this year than couldn't get them ever before.

You may have the $6 asking price, but you have to know more than a friend of a friend to lay hands on a ticket.

The "demand is greater than I ever recall it," a Navy spokesman said today.

Annapolis officers said they understood West Point is gasping under the same deluge.

"This appears to contradict the economic cycle," the Navy source declared. He thought people these days weren't supposed to be going around spending $6 to see a football game.

The game will be played Nov. 26 in Philadelphia's cavernous municipal stadium, which holds 102,000 fans. The "ticket capacity," after deducting concessionaires, guards, ushers, sports writers and photographers, is about 99,000.

President Truman and members of congress are in the happiest spot of all. Every year the president has an allotment "which he purchases," the Naval Academy explained in a notice to disappointed thousands. Both West Point and Annapolis provide each senator and representative with eight pastebords, as long as he fills out a form and encloses the money.

DARTBALL

In a high scoring rampage, the Independents upset the favored Birdseye Maroons two out of three games in Escanaba Civic Dartball league last night. The scores were 20-5 (a league record for highest game), 12-4 and 4-12.

St. Joe Boosters bested the Woodsticks in a close duel, winning two of three by scores of 6-1, 4-9 and 10-6.

In women's play Tuesday night, the Elys Chips took two from Woodpickers. Opening with two in a row, 2-0, 3-1, the Chips dropped the nightcap, 0-1. Despite Betty St. Martin's homerun, the City Slickers dropped two to Al's Tavern. Al's girls won by 0-1, 1-0 and 2-1.

Industrial league play will continue tonight, although some matches will be postponed because many darters are out trying to get a deer. Groups desiring to organize a team and enter the city league are invited to practice tonight at the new dartball center.

Reinforced Bones Repair Fractures

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Cincinnati (P)—How would you like one of the new reinforced leg bones? Break it and the surgeon merely has to straighten it out. No cast, no medicine, no long hospital stay.

Or a reinforced hand? All he does is to straighten it out after the break.

Both these things actually happened, and the X-ray photograph of the leg bone is on exhibition here at the Southern Medical Association convention.

These reinforced bones are by-products of a new method of mending broken bones. The mending is done by pushing a stainless steel rod—for big bones almost a glider—down through the hollow marrow tunnel of the bone. Doctors call these rods "pins". The longest is nearly two feet.

Two exhibits show how. The miraculous leg is in an exhibit by Dana M. Stuart, M. D., of Kennedy Veterans' hospital, Memphis. A broken thigh bone was mended by a shining, diamond shaped rod, so strong that it takes several pounds to flex.

The patient walked around in a few weeks on his reinforced leg and drank too much red liquor. A nasty fall broke the same leg again, in fact bent it 20 degrees. The doctors merely bent the thigh straight and turned him loose.

The reason for this new surgery is quicker return to work, for broken thighs a few weeks instead of nearly a year, faster healing, no casts, less complications.

Even among doctors this mending is credited to Germany early in the war. But years before Germany it was done at Meridian, Mississippi, by doctors Leslie V. Rush and H. Lowry Rush.

They have an exhibit here with some new type "pins" that mend not only thighs, but lower legs, broken knees, ankles, feet, and both upper and lower arms, wrists, hands and collar bones.

They started in 1937, but give credit for the firsts to a Belgian who used a wire on a collar bone in 1907 and a British doctor who used a metal pipe on a thigh bone in 1910.

They had a young fellow who broke a bone in his hand hitting a man's head with his bare fist. The bone was pinned with stainless steel. The youngster got well so fast that he went out and slugged another skull. He broke the same bone. This time the doctors merely straightened the bend.

Both the veterans and the Meridian physicians remove the pins after the bones have healed. But some patients object.

Perhaps a football team with reinforced bones could beat Notre Dame.

STRIKING SOUND

The ticking sound made by a death-watch beetle, popularly supposed to presage death, results from the beetle's striking its head against a hard surface, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Unemployment seems to be a greater problem than government reports indicate. Many people are working only part-time and the lush days of overtime pay seem to be over.

Many EHS Seniors Work On Show

Escanaba high school seniors are busy putting the last touches on their three-act mystery thriller, "Tiger House," which will be presented in William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium Saturday night, Nov. 19.

The show begins at 8 p. m. and reservations can be made at the senior high school through Friday, during the day, and at the Escanaba Junior High school on Saturday.

Miss Audrey Butt of the faculty directs the cast of 10 seniors who will be featured in the production. Miss Patricia Graham of the faculty is assisting with direction and Patti Nichol, senior, is student director.

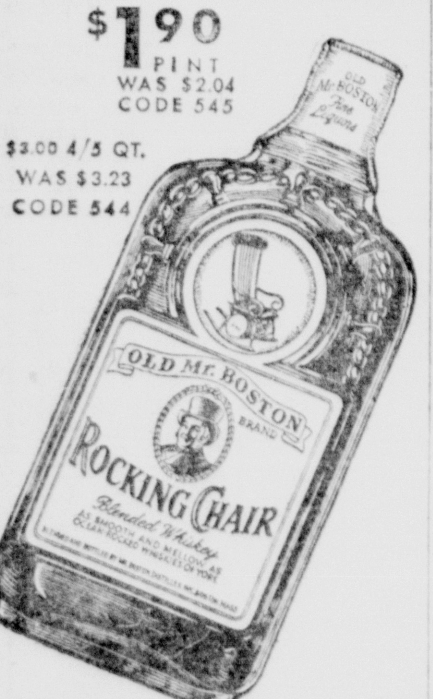

Marilyn Anderson has been appointed chairman of the make-up committee and will be assisted by Nancy Anderson, Barbara Carlson, Carol Christensen and Irene Steen. Jane Holderman heads the property committee and working with her are Lucy Baum, Carol Leiper, Betty Nelson, Arlene Koehler and Donna Rudness.

George Rouman is in charge of the stage and he is aided by Allan Slye, Don Goedert, Jack Corcoran, Tom Cleary and Fred Hjort. Pat Farrell is in charge of lighting and sound effects and Jack Cloutier, Don Kvam and Con Luecke are working with him.

Security is the charge of Joseph Senjeis, Eugene Huette, Robert Richards and Jerine Hendricksort. Lorrie LeDuc and Patsy Buzzell are the prompters.

Barbara Ross is chairman of publicity with Marie Sorensen as assistant, and Alfred Nelson, Marie Sorensen, Fred McFadden, Barbara Ross and Patti Nichol are in charge of tickets.
